THREE KILLED; OVER 40 HURT

Cincinnati Express on the Pennsy Wrecked East of Philadelphia.

BROKEN RAIL IS GIVEN AS CAUSE

Three Sleepers and a Day Coach Plunge Down Up- on Freight Train.

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—Three persons are known to have been killed and more than two score were injured, some probably fatally when the Cincinnati express on the Pennsylvania railroad which left here at 10:48 o'clock last night, was derailed at Glen Rock, about twenty-five miles west of this city, shortly before midnight. One day coach and three sleeping cars fell twenty feet down an embankment on to a train of coal cars on the freight line, which at this piont runs parallel to the passenger tracks. The dead:

H. L. BALDWIN, New York, Pullman conductor.

Unidentified passenger, a woman.

———Jones, Pullman conductor.

In Westchester Hospital.

The injured are in Westchester hospital: Miss Jane Kelley, Chicago, suffering from shock. C. S. Matt, New York, lacerated hip and injured side. Wm. H. Griggs, Trenton, N. J., badly bruised. Mrs. Mary Hudnut, New York, two fractured ribs. Harry Murphy, Philadelphia baggagemaster, leg injured. Stephen Fenence, East Brownsville, Pa., concussion of the brain. T. L. H. Scott, Cadiz, Ohio, fractured left leg. S. A. Davis, Pullman porter, New York, lacerated lift shoulder and right ankle hurt. A. L. Walker, Somerset, Pa., fractured right arm and ribs. Rev. S. G. Wilson, of Indiana county, Pa., sprained back. Mrs. H. C. Miller, Altoona, Pa., right side and hip injured.

Some Others Injured.

Additional names of injured were given out by the railroad authorities in Harrisburg as follows: J. H. Browning, New York, fractured ribs. G. H. Caldwell, Nashville, Tenn., back wrenched and head cut. Mrs. Wm. Dietrich, Cleveland, bruised about the body. Mrs. John Hickey, Altoona, Pa., cut about face and bruised. A. H. Jones, New York Central railroad, bruised. M. H. Lewis, Louisville, Ky., sprained ankle and concussions.

Charged to Broken Rail.

The train was composed of two locomotives, a postal car, a combination baggage and smoker; one day coach and nine Pullmans. The Pennsylvania railroad officials believe the accident was caused by a broken rail as there are no switches or frogs close to the scene and they say that in view of the fact that the express was running at its usual rate of speed, the slight curve at the point of derailment was surely not a factor in the wreck. Relief trains were rushed to the scene of the wreck from Philadelphia and Lancaster and the injured rushed to Westchester and Harrisburg, while some were cared for in neighboring farm houses. The dead were removed from the wreck with difficulty, all being taken from beneath the same Pullman car.

Snow and darkness added to the desolation. The cars were badly smashed and piled high on both sides of the coal train, making the rescue work difficult.

The majority of the passengers in the day coach were lounging in their seats, preparing for the long night ride and those in the sleepers had retired when the accident occurred.

Thrilling Experiences.

Some of the passengers taken to Harrisburg on the relief train sent from that city related thrilling experiences. L. D. English, a prominent business man of Pittsburg, who, with his wife, escaped injury, said:

"I was awakened by being hurled

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN STORM

Philippines Are Swept by Typhoon of Terrific Severity.

LEYTE'S CAPITAL HAS BEEN WRECKED

Ruin Marks Storm's Pathway and Damage Will Be Extensive.

Manila, Nov. 28.—Many lives were lost during a severe typhoon which occurred today causing immense damage to property.

The storm, which was very violent, crossed the islands of Samar, Leyte and North Panay, leaving ruin in its paths. The town of Lacloban, the capital of Leyte, was practically destroyed. Two steamers were wrecked in Tacloban harbor.

How many persons were killed by falling houses, flying debris and by drowning is not known, but the loss of life is reported to have been great and the damage is estimated at several million pesos.

Another typhoon of unusual severity is predicted by the weather bureau along the west coast of Mindanao.

RANSDELL DIES IN WASHINGTON

Senate Sergeant-at-Arms a Well Known Figure in Public Life.

FRIEND OF HARRISON

Washington, Nov. 28.—Col. Daniel M. Ransdell, sergeant at arms of the United States senate, former United States marshal for the District of Columbia, and an intimate friend of the late President Harrison, died here early today as the result of an operation performed on Nov. 7.

Col. Ransdell was one of the well known figures of public life. He had been sergeant at arms of the senate for nearly twelve years, having been elected to the post in January, 1900. As such officer he had practically complete charge of all official senate affairs, the issuing of subpoenas in senate inquiries and the conduct of senate function. He was seventy years old and a native of Indianapolis, where his remains will be buried Sunday.

At the time Col. Ransdell's Washington career begun under President Harrison, he had been city clerk and city councillor of Indianapolis, a member of public commissions and had held many positions of prominence in republican party affairs. In the course of a three years' service in the union army he lost his right arm before his public career began.

News of the death of the sergeant at arms caused a shock in Washington today, following so closely upon the death of Senator Rayner, of Maryland, and of Vice President Sherman. He was operated on the day after election at a local hospital. He at first rallied and was thought to be recovering, but a set back early this morning culminated in his sudden death. It is expected that a committee from the senate will be appointed to accompany the body of Col Ransdell to Indianapolis for burial. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss Mary Cathcart, of Indianapolis, two daughters and three sons, two of whom are naval officers.

HIS LAST IN WHITE HOUSE

Mr. Taft Has Rather Busy Final Thanksgiving as President.

ATTENDS CHURCH; THEN A WEDDING

Attacks 32-Pound Turkey and Aunt Delia's Pies This Evening.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The last Thanksgiving in the white house of the twenty-seventh president of the United States includes public and private functions, attendance upon one of the early society weddings of the season and family Thanksgiving feast at home.

The president went at 10 o'clock to the Pan-American Thanksgiving service at St. Patrick's church, where most of the diplomats in Washington, many of the members of the cabinet and hundreds of government officials annually worship. From St. Patrick's he was driven to his own church, All Souls Unitarian, where he listened to a Thanksgiving sermon by his pastor, Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, chaplain of the senate.

The principal event of the president's afternoon was the wedding of Miss Alice Gates Boutell, daughter of Henry S. Boutell, American minister to Switzerland, and John W. B. Ladd, of Boston. He expected to spend the remainder of the day quietly in his study.

The big white house celebration of the day will come tonight when the 32-pound Rhode Island turkey, "Aunt" Delia Torrey's monster mince pie and all the other good things that have been stored away in the president's kitchen will be served.

Mrs. Taft and Charles Taft were in Washington with the president. Miss Helen Taft has not returned from her trip to Panama. Most of the members

MR. ULRICH IS AFTER COPPERS

Lafayette Chief Looks More Like Tramp Than Officer, He Says.

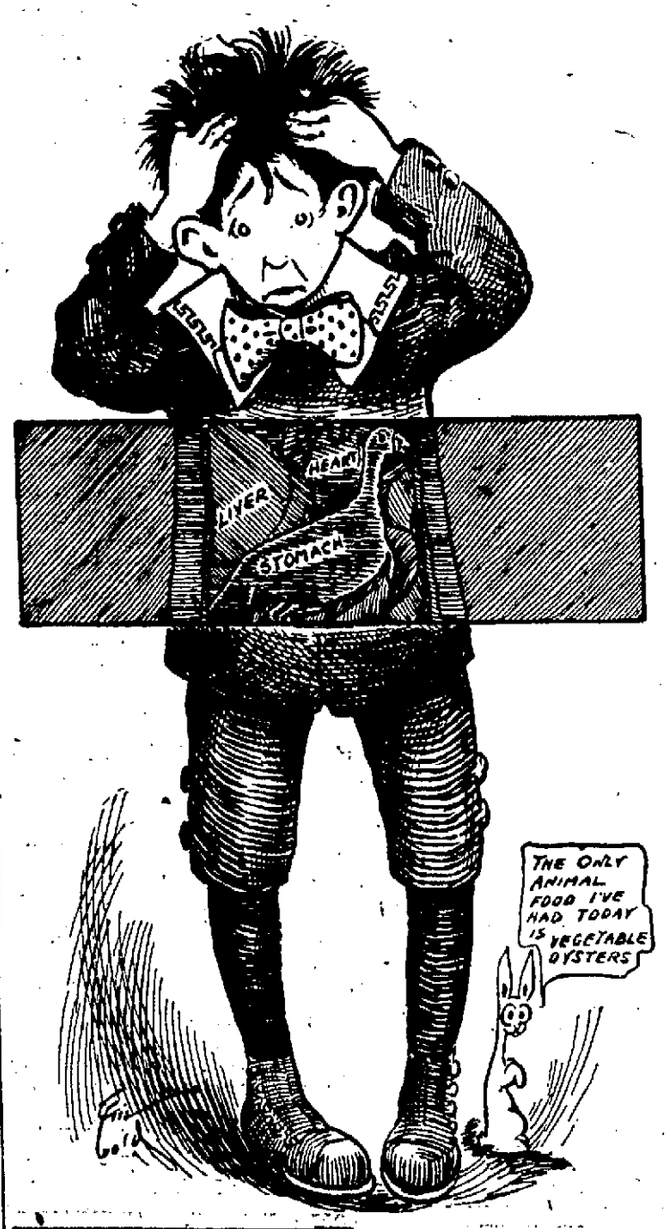
DEMAND FOR REFORMS

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 28.—Because Superintendent of Police Louis Shafer does not wear a uniform and the members of the police force are, as he alleges, failing to live up to the rules of the law governing Metropolitan police departments, William Ulrich has instituted proceedings to bring about reforms.

Ulrich urges the mayor and city council to enforce the rules. He has served notice on the Tippecanoe Loan and Trust company, bondsmen for the police commissioners, that they must require the commissioners to fulfill their duty or sacrifice their bonds. Ulrich, in his complaint to the city council, says that Superintendent of Police Shafer looks more like a tramp than a police officer. He also alleges that the policemen enter saloons and drink intoxicating liquors while on duty, that they enter gambling houses and take part in games of chance while on duty, and that they enter houses of ill-fame. He says the policemen are in the habit of smoking, gossiping, lounging on street corners and conversing with citizens. All these things, he says, are forbidden by the Metropolitan police rules.

Ulrich says if he does not get relief by petition and serving notice on the bondsmen he will go to the courts.

Isn't it Wonderful What the X-ray Can Reveal?



TURKISH FLEET READY TO FIGHT

BUT MAY NOT BE SENT

London, Nov. 27.—The Turkish fleet, with the exception of the cruiser Hamidieh, is reported by special correspondents in Constantinople to be ready to go out and fight. It is still doubtful, however, whether the Ottoman military authorities will agree to allow its use against the Greek fleet, despite the reported intention of the Greeks to transport large forces to Xeros bay, behind the Dardanelles. This move would seem to give the Turkish destroyers the chance for which Turkish naval officers profess to long.

Torgut Schevket Pasha is now in command of the garrison guarding the forts of the Dardanelles. The troops under his command have been strongly reinforced and are said to number at least four divisions.

The report of the arrest of five hundred Turkish officers and a number of civilians, including Dr. Nazim Bey, the chief organizer of the committee of union and progress by the Greeks in Saloniki, is telegraphed here by a special correspondent. The arrested men have been deported to Greece. The correspondent says this step by the Greeks was justified because the Turks violated the terms of capitulation, broke their parol and got away in some cases by using fraudulently obtained passports.

The correspondent adds that the importance of this development will be understood when it is realized that the character of the war in Macedonia has changed and that the Greek army is now seriously harrassed by numerous guerilla bands largely composed of liberated soldiers. Moreover the Bulgarian commanders have complained that Turkish officers have left by steamer from Saloniki to proceed to Constantinople for the purpose of joining their comrades fighting at Tchataija.

It was discovered that Dr. Nazim Bey was organizing meetings and leading numerous intrigues against the authorities.

One of the weddings of popular young people today will be that of Miss Hazel Beitzell, of West Fifth street, and Mr. James Price. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beitzell.

VISION OF HIS HUNGRY FAMILY

Led Indianapolis Man to Steal a Turkey from Public Market.

FIVE CALLED TO HIM

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 28.—A man's vision of a hungry wife and children at home today, Thanksgiving, was responsible for the theft of an eight-pound turkey from Mrs. Wm. Shermann on the public market yesterday.

"Beg pardon, madame, I'll get your turkey for you," said a man about forty years old to Mrs. Shermann as the fowl she had just paid $1.60 for escaped from her grasp and flew to a building near the market. The woman's benefactor smiled pleasantly and tipped his hat politely. He took after the bird and after several minutes succeeded in capturing it.

A crowd which had collected applauded, but the enthusiasm died away as the man was seen running away from the scene. Mrs. Shermann shouted, so did others, but the thief continued on his way looking neither to the right nor to the left. Dodging about among the buildings he finally made his escape. Policemen gave up the search when they learned the truth about the incident. A moment before the turkey thief had told a man standing nearby of how his family might have to go hungry Thanksgiving because he had failed to obtain work.

"Five children watched me come away from the house this morning," he had said, "and every one of them yelled to me not to forget the turkey. Turkeys cost 20 cents a pound this year. Why, neighbor, I couldn't buy a dime's worth." Mrs. Shermann ordered the police to abandon the search.

CHIEF WILL INVESTIGATE.

Charge Is Made That Police Officers Watched Gambling In Saloon.

Chief Abbott, of the police department, will make an investigation of a charge in a letter directed to the Sentinel that police officers not in uniform watched a card game for money in a saloon on Calhoun street. The names of the men were not given in the letter.

Complaints of this particular saloon have been received by the chief in anonymous letters, but he says he has found nothing to warrant an arrest. The Sentinel letter states that as high as $75 has been at stake in one game at the saloon.

TWO GET DIVORCES FROM SAME HUSBAND.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 28.—Divorces were granted in the circuit court today to Della French Allen and Berdina Peuffahl Allen, wives of Dr. Ralph Travers Allen, a wealthy man, who was sent to Waupun penitentiary last week for a ten year term on a charge of bringing a young girl from St. Paul to La Crosse for immoral purposes. It was shown that he had married the young woman without the formality of a divorce.

TURKEY TAKES A RIDE ON TOP OF STREET CAR.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 28.—The spectacle of a big turkey gobbler riding down Main street on top of a street car was witnessed here. Inspector Frank Bennett saw the big gobbler and ordering the car stopped he climbed up and captured the bird, which was blinded by the glare of the city's lights. Where the turkey came from is not known. Bennett sent the turkey home and today had a fine Thanksgiving dinner.

Indiana Eleven is Picked to Win Clash With Marquettes.

RIVALRY BETWEEN TEAMS IS INTENSE

Have Met for Three Years Without Score Being Registered.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—University of Notre Dame foot ball players were favorites in their annual game today with the Marquettes university eleven. Coach Kennedy of Marquette declared that Notre Dame was in for a surprise. Several hundred students from both institutions arrived in special trains early today to witness the contest. Both teams planned to rely mostly on old style foot ball, although they have been thoroughly drilled in open formations. The line-up:

Notre Dame	Position	Marquette
Rockne	Left End.	Gilbert
Feeney	Center	Krause
Lathrop	Right Guard.	McCusker
Harret	Right Tackle.	Voter
Crowley	Right End.	Keeley
Dorias.	Quarterback.	Whalen
Berger	Left Halfback.	Sloan
Pliska	Right Halfback.	Doyle
Eicheniaub	Full Back.	Frawley

Officials: Referee, Eckersall; umpire, Steffen; head linesman, Heneage.

There is intense rivalry between the teams which have met on Thanksgiving day for three years without a score being registered. Notre Dame has not been

UNEARTH REBEL PLOT AT JUAREZ

Insurgents Found Among Few Defenders of the Border City.

PREPARED TO TURN

El Paso, Texas, Nov 28.—Juarez, the important border point, threatened by insurrecto attack, has found that rebels are enlisted among the town's few defenders. A series of arrests was begun today which it is said will materially diminish the 500 federal soldiers of the local garrison. A half dozen men selected from the ranks were placed in jail charged with not only being rebel sympathizers, but with actually being rebel soldiers.

Gen. Trucy Aubert, left with only a few federal regulars and no artillery, found it necessary to recruit his ranks to full strength. Rebels crossing from El Paso joined the federal army, and today the Mexican secret service exposed a plot wherein the so-called volunteers were preparing to turn on the regulars when the expected insurrecto attack was made. The arrival of some artillery is expected to assist materially in defending the town should an attack be made.

It developed today that the three trains, supposedly of troops which left Chihuahua City a few days ago for the north were merely work trains with a small train escort. The federal government has refused to send reinforcements into the northern part of the state where rebels appear as numerous as at the beginning of the revolution, and where the federal garrisons admittedly are inadequate.

FORT WAYNE GIVES THANKS

Great Holiday is Being Observed Quietly in This City.

BUT CELEBRATION IS VERY GENERAL

Feasts and Many Other Attractions Follow Religious Services.

Thanksgiving is being enjoyed in Fort Wayne in a quiet manner. The city and country in general bows low before his majesty the turkey, and the residents of Fort Wayne will sit down to their feasts today in as happy and thankful a frame of mind as ever greeted a holiday.

A search for Thanksgiving facts reveals joyous prospects. Financiers and business men of all vocations and lines of trade, together with the workingmen, have just cause to be thankful, as the prosperity of the farmer, who is thankful for bounteous crops and good prices, has communicated itself to the city dweller.

Inmates of all charitable institutions are to enjoy sumptuous feasts, and even the hospitals of the city have planned to gladden the hearts of their patients by permitting a few extras on the daily menu, giving the sufferers just cause to be thankful that their illness is no more serious.

Business is Suspended.

All business has been suspended in this city, and only the church bells broke the morning stillness, chiming a welcome to all worshippers who are mindful of the fact that the holiday is one of religious significance. A typical holiday spirit permeates the atmosphere.

Most of the early incoming interurbans and steam trains unloaded their usual number of visitors, and home-coming feasts will mark the day's observance in all parts of the city. Hundreds of families will hold their annual reunions during the day. Most of the outgoing trains carried great numbers to the country and nearby towns, where family gatherings have been arranged.

Those who are inclined toward sportmanship have taken to the woods in search of rabbits and other wild game. Business men who thus far have been unable to leave their desks, have taken advantage of the holiday and reports from all portions of the country lead to the belief that the woods are filled with hunters.

Places To Go.

All who seek entertainment this afternoon and tonight will find plenty of places to go. The usual holiday program has been planned. Most of the churches held services this morning, and this afternoon will be devoted chiefly to amusement. A number of matinee dances have been announced, and it is thought that the football game, which marks the close of the season, will draw a gigantic crowd, as the best match of the Friars' season is scheduled, when the local eleven clashes with Corby hall, of Notre Dame university.

In addition to this there will be roller skating at Princess rink, and good bills at all the theaters.

READY FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH.

First Preparatory Order Given Out by Postmaster General.

Washington, Nov. 28. — Postmaster General Hitchock's big organization is getting ready for the Christmas rush. One of the first important orders was promulgated today. Postmasters are notified that from Dec. 2 to Jan 3 the regulations requiring the "back stamping" of mail matter will be suspended "to expedite the delivery of mail during the holiday season." During the period special delivery and registered mail only will be stamped with the time of receipt, the ordinary mail going through the offices by the most approved "short cuts" known to the postal service.

Mr. Hegerfeldt's Catch

AFTER Sylvester McMahon, Christ. Hegerfeldt and George Krockenberger had worked hard all the forenoon and failed to land a single, solitary bite, they made up their minds that the St. Joe wasn't a very good place to fish anyway.

"But our luck will be better this afternoon," said Hegerfeldt, as he selected a better-looking spot on the river bank and threw the sinker well out into the middle of the stream.

"I'll bet you I'll land one before you do," responded McMahon, as he let the line fly out for one more attempt.

"I'll bet you you don't," said Hegerfeldt. By that time the matter became so interesting that both men set their poles and proceeded to make arrangements for the wager. In the meantime, Krockenberger, who hadn't been saying anything at all, pulled in a small rock bass. The other two didn't see him gather it in, as they were busy with the details of the wager. Krockenberger quietly removed the bass from his own hook, drew in Hegerfeldt's line and fastened the bass to the other man's hook. Then he went on fishing again. In the meantime, the details of the McMahon-Hegerfeldt wager were completed, and the two men returned to continue their fishing. As soon as Hegerfeldt took hold of his pole he found he had a catch and was, therefore, the winner.

On returning to town the wager was duly paid by McMahon, and Krockenberger didn't give the secret away until the matter had all been settled to the entire satisfaction of the others concerned.

The others didn't see him.

PATRICK QUITS SING SING CELL

Prison Gates Swing Open for Him After a 12-Year Battle.

IS PARDONED BY DIX

Ossinning, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Albert T. Patrick, thrice in the shadow of the death chair, having been convicted as the murderer of William Marsh Rice, will leave the gray walls of Sing Sing prison today a free man pardoned by Gov. Dix. A fine snow drifted about the great prison this morning and there was no sunshine. But it was a real day of Thanksgiving for Patrick.

While employes in the warden's office waited for the mail from Albany, bearing the governor's document which transforms Patrick from a "lifer" to a free man, Patrick dressed himself carefully in his cell and looked through the bars to the snow-flecked Hudson. He was expecting not only his liberty, but a Thanksgiving dinner in New York with his wife and a few intimate friends.

Attaches of the warden's office said at 9 o'clock this morning that the mail had not yet arrived but the pardon would surely come today and that barring a change of plans, Patrick would leave the prison with his wife, dressed in the ill-fitting garb supplied by the state.

Remarkable Fight for Freedom.

Patrick, who was saved from the electric chair by the late Governor Higgins in December, 1906, has made a remarkable fight for freedom. A lawyer by profession, he protested when Governor Higgins commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, declaring that the governor had no legal right to cancel the original sentence and impose a punishment of life imprisonment.

Governor Dix announced that he had pardoned Patrick just as he was about to leave the capitol for the executive mansion.

"There has always been an air of mystery in this important case," he said. "Quoting from the minority opinion of the court of appeals, 'the atmosphere that surrounds the defendant showed that a fair and impartial trial was scarcely possible.'

"I trust that Mr. Patrick will devote his energies to a complete vindication of his declared innocence.

"During the past year I have given much consideration to this case and am convinced that the defendant is entitled to have a full pardon."

Governor Dix said Superintendent of State Prisons Scott and scores of prominent citizens appealed to him in Patrick's behalf.

It is said Patrick plans to leave for St. Louis, the home of John T. Milliken, his brother-in-law, but may return later to New York as a claimant for the millions left by the aged man with whose murder he was charged. Mr. Milliken aided Patrick in his fight for freedom and it is reported will assist him in his efforts to prove his innocence.

He Clung to Hope.

At no time during his long incarceration in Sing Sing, four years of which were spent in the death house, has Patrick given up the hope of securing his freedom. Letter after letter has been received at the executive chamber urging that he be pardoned and each successive governor since Governor O'Dell has been asked to extend executive clemency.

Governor Higgins was so impressed with the prisoner's plea that he granted him three respites and eventually commuted his sentence from death to life imprisonment.

Patrick was charged with having brought about the death of Mr. Rice, not by his own hand, but through the agency of Charles F. Jones, a valet employed by Rice. It was principally upon the testimony of Jones, who confessed having administered chloroform to Rice at the behest of Patrick while Rice was asleep, that Patrick was convicted. Jones escaped punishment and has long been able to hide his identity from the public. At last reports he was said to be in Texas.

Patrick was sentenced originally April 7, 1901, to die the week commencing May 5th, and was immediately taken to Sing Sing death house. An appeal was taken and on June 1, 1905, the conviction was affirmed by the court of appeals. The court later denied an application for a rehearing and fixed the week of August 25, 1905, as the date of execution.

The commutation of Patrick's sentence by Governor Higgins did not end the legal fight. Patrick contended that the sentence of death had been commuted against his wishes and contrary to law and that he was being illegally detained in prison.

"The punishment of life imprisonment," he asserted, "is greater and more horrible to endure than the death penalty prescribed by law for murder in the first degree."

Appeals are now pending in the court of appeals on technicalities raised by the convicted lawyer, who, surrounded by law books in his cell, has resorted to every legal means to secure his release. The granting of a pardon by the governor restores him to citizenship.

Family Cough Syrup

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours.
NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE.

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to the medical world. It is a mild laxative, too, and this is what a body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poisons in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups relieve, but make the trouble worse by their constipating effects. This prescription not only relieves quickly, but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Mix in a bottle. Take for acute cough or bronchitis twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumptives. Cut this out and give it to some friends who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.—Adv.

SEEKING HONORS OF SPEAKERSHIP

Many Solons Want to Preside Over Hoosier House.

RACE A MERRY ONE

Indianapolis, Nov. 28.—Emmet C. Mitchell, of Salem, representative from Clark and Washington counties, has thrown his hat in the ring and is now a candidate for speaker of the house for the coming session of the legislature. He sent his information to several Marion county representatives in letters within the last few days.

Mark Storen, of Scottsburg, is not a candidate for speaker. For a while he was said to be in the running. He has announced that he favors Representative M. C Thornton, of New Albany, for speaker. They are both from the Third district. Mitchell also is from the Third district.

John Isenbarger, representative from Wabash county, has come out "flat-footed" as a candidate for speaker. He was suspected of having the bee for some time, but his formal announcement has just been made. And there are Representative Charles E. Smith, of Anderson; Representative James R. Fleming, of Jay county, and Representative Jesse F. Wiseman, of Greene county, all candidates for speaker.

Homer C. Cook, representative from Marion county, appears to be in the lead for the place, as matters stand now, but, of course, the game is young. Cook has received nearly one hundred letters from prominent democrats, members of the legislature and school men of the state promising support. Cook's friends say that Thomas Taggart is favorable to him.

Cook has issued a folder containing a directory of the newly-elected representatives. It gives their names and address with the counties they represent. It also contains an advertisement of the fact that Cook is a candidate.

beaten this year and has swamped a majority of its opponents, while Marquette has been twice defeated.

It was the rivalry between the elevens that led to the selection of Chicago as the scene of today's contest. Indications were that 15,000 persons would witness the game.

CORNELL—PENNSYLVANIA.

Old-Fashioned Weather for Contest at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—Snow, which began falling here early today, promised old-fashioned weather conditions on Franklin field this afternoon, when Cornell and Pennsylvania line up for their annual Thanksgiving day foot ball game. Betting favored Pennsylvania to win.

With a wet field Pennsylvania's slightly heavier line and back field should have the advantage, but Coach Sharpe had carefully drilled the Cornell men and declared he hoped to surprise Pennsylvania, despite the unfavorable weather conditions.

The teams will line up as follows:

Pennsylvania.	Postions.	Cornell.
Young	L. E.	Eyrich
Wilson	L. T.	Guter
Jeruneay	L. G.	Munns
Simpson	C.	Whyte
Greene	R. G.	Champaign
Dillon	R. T.	Nash
Jourdet	R. E.	O'Hearne
Marshall	Q. B.	Butler
Harrington	L. H. B.	O'Connoer
Minds	R. H. B.	Fritz
Mercer	F. B.	Hill

Officials: Referee, W. S. Langford, Trinity; umpire, Dave Fultz, Brown; linesman, Carl Marshall, Harvard.

LEAVES FOR PHILADELPHIA.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 28—Navy's foot ball squad left here this morning on a special train for Philadelphia, the scene of Saturday's big inter-service game. With the team and substitutes went Head Coach Douglas Howard, Field Coach Frank Wheaton, of Yale; "Jack" Cates, also of Yale, and a number of other assistants of the coaching staff, together with rubbers and trainers.

The brigade of midshipmen will leave for Philadelphia in special trains Saturday morning.

ST. LOUIS—HOLY CROSS.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 28.—The St. Louis university foot ball team will line up against the eleven from the Holy Cross college in the final contest of the local gridiron season here this afternoon with but one regular, Tackle Schloemer, missing. The local team will be out-weighed nearly eight pounds to the man.

CARRIED GERMS IN BOOTS.

Facts Brought Out During Foot and Mouth Disease Inquiry.

London, Nov. 28.—Some startling information was brought to light in a heated debate in the house of commons concerning the origin of the devastating outbreak of foot and mouth diseases in Ireland.

The disease in one case was, T. W. Russell sugested, brought to Ireland on the boots of cattle dealers, and in another it had been definitely traced to straw envelopes containing French wine.

Here is the report concerning the latter:

"Kildare—Outbreak definitely traced by government inspectors to the officers' mess at Curragh Camp. Bottles of French wine had been imported in straw envelopes and the straw subsequently given to a widow in the neighborhood who kept pigs. The straw was used as a bed for the pigs, and these were shortly afterward attacked with foot and mouth disease."

"Already the outbreak has cost the Irish people $7,500,000," said Mr. Russell, "and more will be lost."

"White" Thanksgiving for Large Section of Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 28.—Residents of Atlanta and other sections of north Georgia awoke today to see "white" Thanksgiving. It is the first time in the history of Atlanta that snow has remained long enough to whiten the ground at Thanksgiving.

MADE ECONOMICAL RACE.

Fred Landis' Campaign Expenditure Was but $220.

Indianapolis, Nov. 28.—Frederick Landis, progressive candidate for lieutenant governor, made no promises and spent $319 during the recent campaign, according to his statement filed yesterday. Of this amount $220 was spent for hotel bills and the remainder for railroad, interurban and hack fares.

Albert W. Jackman, candidate for the same office on the prohibition ticket, spent $62.85.

Ananias G. Kessel, chairman of the Vigo county prohibition committee, received $1 as a contribution, which was given by Ralph Hollingsworth, of North Terre Haute. Kessel stated that the money was spent for stamps.

DEFEATED BY 594 VOTES.

Michigan Returns Show Ballot Has Been Denied Woman.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 28.—The constitutional amendment providing woman suffrage in Michigan was defeated by 594 votes, according to figures compiled in the secretary of state's office at Lansing, from every county in Michigan. Until the result is officially announced by the state board of canvassers Dec. 10 it is said that no definite statement will be made by the advocates of the amendment as to what course of action they will next take up. Plans are now being made in many districts, however, to petition the legislature to re-submit the question in the spring election.

MOOSE INITIATE LARGE CLASS.

The Fort Wayne lodge of the Trail of the Moose will initiate a class of more than 100 candidates today and tonight in their rooms in the Lau block. The ceremonies will start at 2:30 o'clock and will be continued until late at night under the direction of the drill team of the order. A banquet will be served at the conclusion of the exercises.

WILLIE RITCHIE STILL CONFIDENT

Believes He Will Beat Wolgast, Although Odds Are Against Him.

CHAMP DIDN'T TRAIN

San Francisco, Nov. 28.—The patience of Willie Ritchie, the San Francisco lightweight, will be rewarded today when at 2 o'clock the gong starts him on his twenty-round fight with Champion Ad Wolgast at Colfroth's arena in Daly City. The local youngster has waited long for a chance to show his mettle, and assured his friends that he took the lightweight king's measure on the day he boxed four smashing rounds with him in this city.

Ritchie has overlooked many a good pugilistic business proposition in order to get this match with the champion. When the papers were signed he was as happy as a youngster with a new hobby horse. One question more than any other has been asked concerning Ritchie: "Has he the punch that will stop Wolgast?" The answer seems to be that he knocked Wolgast down in their recent four-round go with a right cross to the jaw, and that in New Orleans when he fought Joe Mandot he put the southerner to the canvas on two occasions in ten rounds.

Ritchie is about as level-headed as any fighter in the business. Although a young man he has put away a few thousand dollars and has some property in the city. He began life driving a sand wagon team and when he took to boxing in preliminaries and amateur bouts, graduated to the dignity of a chauffeur and automobile mechanician.

Sporting writers charge that Wolgast has not trained faithfully for the Ritchie fight. He refuses to take the local boy seriously, they say.

The betting opened today at 2 to 1 Wolgast to win and even money that he would knock Ritchie out inside of eighteen rounds. It is said the ringside price will not be better than 10 to 6.

SALVATION ARMY TO BEGIN LABORS

"Keep the Pot Boiling," Will Soon Be Cry of Its Members

ON LOCAL STREETS

"Keep the pot boiling."

This will soon be a familiar cry in Fort Wayne's down town district, as officers and members of the local branch of the Salvation Army are already making preliminary plans for the annual campaign to secure funds with which to buy Christmas dinners and provisions for the poor of the city.

Announcement was made this morning by Ensign J. L. Knapp that the Christmas workers will begin their labors sometime within the next ten days. Members of the Salvation Army, as in past years, will be stationed on all the principal corners of the business district, and the merry tinkle of their Christmas bells will sound an invitation to all passers-by to "Keep the pot a-boiling," so that money may be had to gladden the hearts of those who are in needy circumstances during the holiday season.

The work of the Salvation Army in Fort Wayne has been wide in its scope, and much good has been done through the efforts of its members, who subject themselves to the cold and elements of winter, in first securing money, and then determinin gto whom it should go and distributing it in the shape of dinners, clothing, fuel and other necessities of life. Last year the Salvation Army supplied several hundred dinners to the poor people of Fort Wayne at Christmas time.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

MORNING MUSICAL RECITAL.

Unusual and Delightful Program Given for Members and Guests.

A large audience of Morning Musical society members and their guests assembled in Elks' hall last evening to hear a recital given by Mrs. Florence Huebner Dukes, pianist of this city, and Mrs. Eleanor Nesbit Poehler, a mezzo-soprano singer of Chicago. The program during its entirety was greatly enjoyed and both artists were appealing not alone for their rather striking individuality but also for the delight they afforded their listeners in a musical way.

Mrs. Dukes has been heard a number of times but never to better advantage than on this occasion. She has broadened much in her work, and her technique, which has always been brilliant, has gained in power and judgment. Mrs. Dukes' poise is astonishing for so young a performer, and there was so much of the scholarly in her interpretation and so much of a uniform excellence of artistry that to mention all instances would be to go through her part of the program. She opened with a Mendelssohn prelude and fugue. The prelude was particularly well played, and the Liszt "Liebenstraum" was especially lovely for the singing tone of the melody. Exceedingly well played was the Donhanyi rhapsody which she executed with splendid rhythmic feeling, and two encore numbers were equally marked in lightness of tone and fine rhythmic effect. Two big works that Mrs. Dukes handled with splendid technical conception and vigorous tone were the Paganini-Brahms theme with variations, and the Schubert-Tausig Marche Militaire.

Mrs. Poehler is a remarkable singer. Her voice is smooth, rich and even in quality and her dramatic instinct is so marked that she is able to express any idea that words and music suggest. Mrs. Poehler sang fourteen songs, and grew in admiration of the audience with each number. She is a singer of fine sensibilities and rare delicacy of perception. Her expression of what she sings is exceedingly poetic and she rises to any passionate feeling, whether anguish or joy, that the song expresses. Of very lovely and charming character was her second group of songs, "Where Corals Lie," by Elgar; "Soft-footed Snow," two Brahms songs, and Halle's beautiful "Im Zitternden Mondlicht."

ONE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Roy Kendall Badly Bruised Up When His Car Turns Turtle.

TWO ESCAPE INJURY

Roy Kendall, of this city, is at St. Joseph's hospital, suffering with many bruises and a severe shaking up, as the result of an automobile accident, which happened five miles out on the Huntington road at 8:30 o'clock this morning. Roy's father, and a friend, D. G. Mills, were the other occupants of the machine when it went into the ditch near the Bolyard cemetery, and turned over. Neither of the elder men are any the worse for the mishap.

It is asserted that the accident was caused by the fact that a farmer refused to allow the machine to pass. The farmer in question was driving ahead of the machine and kept the road despite the fact that Kendall blew his horn repeatedly. The latter attempted to drive around the wagon at the curve in the road near the Bolyard graveyard, and in an effort to avoid striking the horses in the narrow roadway his machine slipped into the ditch and turned over.

Young Kendall was pinioned under the machine, directly beneath one of the seats. Roy's father, who is Alonzo Kendall, was also pinioned under the machine, but his leg was only slightly injured. Mills escaped without the slightest injury.

Dave Trautman, who happened to be driving past, brought the injured autoists to this city. Young Kendall was removed to the hospital, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. B. P. Weaver. The damage to the machine was slight.

FIRST MAYOR OF PERU IS NO MORE

WAS 89 YEARS OF AGE

Indianapolis, Nov. 28.—Edward Thornberry Dickey, 89 years old, the first mayor of Peru, Ind., and for many years a prominent member of the bar at Madison, Ind., and in Indianapolis, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his son-in-law, Rowland Evans, 1436 North Alabama street, official reporter for the federal court.

Mr. Dickey was a native of Scott county and when but a young man began to study law. Before he had finished his studies, the Mexican war broke out and he enlisted in the Second Indiana infantry and served throughout the war, taking part in the battle of Buena Vista and others of importance.

At the close of the war he removed to Peru, which then was in its infancy, and began the practice of law. Besides being the first mayor of that town, he served as circuit judge for several years. He remained in Peru until 1872, when he removed to Madison.

Upon coming to Indianapolis, in 1882, he opened a law office with John R. Parmalee, with whom he remained until his retirement a few years ago.

Mr. Dickey was a member of the Second Presbyterian church. He is survived by but one child, Mrs. Evans. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

ANKLE HIS SAVINGS BANK.

Alien Killed in Quarry Wore $350 Around Limb.

Hazleton, Pa., Nov. 28.—When the body of Bartholome, Tiarano, of Parkview, killed by a premature blast in the Coleraine mine, was being gathered up by fellow-workers, $350 in bills were found tied in a wad around his left ankle, where he evidently kept his savings. The money was turned over to relatives.

YOUNG MAN DIES FROM INJURIES

OCCURS NEAR WALLEN

Clarence Clifton Strong, a young farmer living seven miles north of the city on the Auburn road, was the victim of a fatal accident Wednesday when his coat became entangled in the machinery of the engine of a corn husking machine. The accident happened near Wallen, six miles northwest of this city.

The corn husking gang, of which Strong was a member, was on its way to the Poirson Bros.' farm and when in front of the residence of Mrs. Rebecca Erwin, Strong attempted to climb down from the engine to the ground. His coat caught in the wheels and drew him into the machinery. Before the engine could be stopped Strong was terribly injured. He was hurried to St. Joseph's hospital at 4 o'clock and died there at 5:40 o'clock. An examination by physicians showed that Strong suffered from a double fracture of the skull, a dislocated shoulder and several holes in his skull, made by sharp points in the machinery.

Surviving relatives include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Strong, of Washington township; three brothers, Clarence and Clinton at home, and Clayton, of this city; one sister, Mrs. Harry Duly, of Perry township.

WOMAN DOCTOR IN FUNNY LAW SUIT

Eggs Without Number Were Used by Her in An Attack

FOR HURT FEELINGS

Portland, Ore., Nov. 28.—Eggs of an overripe variety were the missiles employed by Dr. Marie D. Equi in carrying forward her feud with G B. Prettyman, superintendent of the Medical building. This came out in the testimony for the defence at the trial of Prettyman on a charge of assaulting the woman physician in an office room in the building on the night of May 17 last. The trial took place in Judge McGinn's court.

The eggs were thrown at Prettyman from an upper floor while he was standing in the main corridor of the building and were also smeared against the door of his house, it was said. Testimony in this matter was given by Dr. A. C. McCowen and Steven Bond, a janitor.

A further method alleged to have been employed by the physician to harass her enemy was the ringing of the elevator bells, summoning the cars repeatedly when not wanted. The defense brought physicians with offices in the building to testify to the good character of Prettyman.

Dr. Equi and Miss Bessie Gardner, who is associated in practice with her, testified to the circumstances of the alleged assault. They asserted that by the orders of Prettyman, the elevator boys refused to take them down from the sixth floor. They finally went into the reception room occupied by three physicians and started to telephone for the police. Prettyman came running up and ordered them out, they said. They attempted to delay long enough to summon help by telephone, and he became very rough and abusive.

Dr. Equi was thrown down in the struggle, and it was not until the police entered the building that the superintendent ceased his attack, they said. Dr. Equi said that on a previous occasion she had threatened Prettyman with a revolver while he was attempting to attack her. She declared that they had been friends during the five years she continued as a tenant in the building until they fell out in connection with a young woman Prettyman brought to her for treatment. She rendered a bill for her services, which Prettyman refused to pay, she said.

Dr. Equi also has begun an action for damages against the company owning the Medical building. She removed her offices from the building some time ago after the company had begun ejectment proceedings for alleged non-payment of rent.

PANAMA WATER IS WARM.

Persons Falling Overboard in Canal Will Not Freeze.

Gatun, Nov. 28.—If any one should happen to fall overboard from a ship in the Panama canal he will be in no danger of freezing before being rescued. Right here at Gatun, where the big locks are located, six, in number, it is found that the temperature of the water will be pretty stationary at about 90 degrees and nowhere in the canal will the thermometer fall below 85 at any time.

HELD FOR FAKE AGENCY SWINDLE

Jacob Gillman, Who Served Jail Sentence Here, Under Arrest.

ANOTHER WITH HIM.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 28.—Jacob Gillman and Thomas Huston were arrested yesterday at Indianapolis hotels, each charged with operating a "fake" agency swindle.

Detectives received their first tip that Huston was operating when Joseph Kline reported that he believed he had been swindled. He had answered an advertisement which Huston had inserted in the papers and had been appointed an agent for the George G. Clows Printing company in Philadelphia, with the right to appoint district agents. He had signed a contract and had paid over $20 into the hands of his superior "agent." Huston asserted that he had been "stung" in Louisville for the same proposition that he had attempted here and was trying "to get even."

Gillman represented himself as a general agent of the Regal Shoe company, it is alleged, and advertised for agents. Twenty dollars was the most important part of a contract. Two men are alleged to have been swindled by Gillman. They are Jake Stegmery Anderson, Ind., and Bert Krit, of this city.

Gillman was arrested in Fort Wayne in 1909 on a charge of false pretense. He served 165 days in jail at Fort Wayne.

BOSTON MAN ACCUSED.

Admitted Springfield Explosion Cost $300, Says Witness.

Indianapolis, Nov. 28.—Frank H. Higgins, of Boston, was accused of having admitted that the blowing up of the tower of the municipal building at Springfield, Mass., in April, 1911, had cost $300, by a witness at the dynamite trial today. Daniel W. Gallagher testified that after the explosion Higgins admitted that he had gone to Hartford, Conn., to establish an alibi, and Higgins had said the explosion had cost the iron workers' union $300. The witness also testified Higgins told of trouble which Michael J. Young, of Boston, was having in unionizing the Springfield job.

Ortie E. McManigal confessed he actually caused the explosion and received pay for it.

Judge Anderson decided not to suspend court today on account of the holiday, but no action was expected on the court's decision that fourteen of the forty-five defendants must furnish new bonds amounting to $105,000.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORING TOWNS

TWO WAR VETERANS DIED ON SAME DAY

Both Were Members of Ohio Regiments and Both Died in the Same Township.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov 28.—Two veterans of the war of the Rebellion, and both residents of Thornecreek township in this county, Frederick Hose and James L. Johnston, died yesterday, the former in the morning at 2:30 o'clock and the latter in the afternoon at the same hour.

Mr. Hose was past 70 years of age, his death being due to a complication of diseases. He served during the Civil war in the Thirteenth Ohio volunteers and lost his left arm in the battle of Stone River. After being wounded and his return home he was engaged in the mercantile trade and was postmaster in his Ohio town. He moved to Indiana several years ago and for the last year has been living with his sister in Thorncreek township.

Mr. Johnston was 73 years old. His death followed an illness of two weeks from heart disease and other complications. He is survived by the widow and three children. His early life was spent in Ohio and he was a member of the Seventeenth Ohio volunteers in the Civil war. For the last fifty years he had been one of the well known residents of Whitley county.

NEARING CENTURY MARK.

Huntington Man Will Reach That Age on December 14.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 28.—Jacob Souers, of Huntington, is nearing the 100 mark in life. Should he live till December 14, 1912, he will be 100 years of age. And there seems to be nothing in the way at the present time to prevent him from achieving his great ambition. After he had attained an age where he was unable to perform manual labor, he spent much of his time fishing in Little river, but for the past year he gave that up as he did not wish to take any chances on getting sick.

In the last year Mr. Souers naturally has been more infirm, but he is in fair health. His fasulties other than his hearing, are virtually those of second childhood. He can read without glasses and his memory is as acute as that of a healthy man more in his prime. He takes keen pleasure in following the events of the day and among his friends as readily recalls events of years past with as much vividness as those that happened but yesterday.

ZANESVILLE POSTMASTER.

Commission Has Not Yet Arrived, But is Performing Duties.

Zanesville, Ind., Nov. 28.—J. W. Keplinger, the new postmaster at Zanesville, appointed successor to Robert Clark, is ready to fulfill the duties of the office, but the official mantle of postmastership has not yet fallen upon him, for the reason that his commission has not been received. However, Mr. Keplinger is performing the duties of the office, handling the mail as assistant to Postmaster Clark, who is yet in the office.

HAS SOLD HIS PROPERTY.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Della K. Clark, of Fort Wayne, widow of Stephen H. Clark, late of North Line street, sold her property Tuesday to Mrs. D. A. Workman, for $900. Mr. Clark was a well known rural route carrier here for years.

Twenty turkeys belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Chevilliot, of Jackson township, disappeared some time Monday night. It is supposed they were stolen, but no trace of them has been found yet.

The I. O. O. F. lodge elected the following officers at its regular meeting Tuesday evening: N. G., J. N. Brown; V. G., Seth Painter; recording secretary, J. B. Miller; financial secretary, L. E. Wright; treasurer, H. S. Jones; trustee, J. W. VanBuskirk.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Erwin Wednesday afternoon. About twenty guests were present besides the visiting delegates, Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Ridenour, of Fort Wayne. A number of excellent papers were read and Mrs. J. B. Miller gave a recitation. The ladies' quartet, composed of Mrs. Henry Marquardt, Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. Wm. Youse and Mrs. Minnie Brown, sang two selections. After an interesting business session the hostess served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kline were victims of a surprise by the members of the M. E. Aid society, of which the bride is a member, Tuesday evening. At a late hour refreshments were served and the guests departed with many congratulations for the newly wedded pair. Those present were Mesdames G. W. Ireland, H. Peckham, J. W. Meeks, Wm. Erwin, J. B. Miller, C. Hollopeter, Joseph Miller, T. S. Jones, H. S. Jones, P. Meese, J. A. Johnson, Morris Rose, N. Brown, D. Shifferly, L. E. Edwards, J. W. Edwards, A. Huffman, C. Raber, I. SMOTHERED BY GAS.

Will Hooper, Avilla Resident, Had Narrow Escape From Death.

Avilla, Ind., Nov. 28.—William Hooper, a well known resident of this place, came near death Tuesday morning by asphyxiation at his home in the west part of town.

His brother, J. S. Hooper, residing just across the street, noticed that the blinds were all down at 10 o'clock in the morning and thinking it strange, attempted to arouse him. Not succeeding he procured help and on the back door being broken in the house was found to be full of gas which had escaped from the hard coal stove. Mr. Hooper was found unconscious on the bed. Dr. Veazey was summoned at once and after several hours Mr. Hooper regained consciousness and is recovering.

DEKALB'S NEW TELEPHONE.

A Striking Endorsement of
"St. Paul" Service between
Chicago—St. Paul—Minneapolis

A well known writer from New York, in a paper read recently before the New England Railroad Club, said:

"I asked six men—none of them directly connected with any railroad, and all of them in rather different phases of life—which was the best road to take from Minneapolis to Chicago.

"The six men all said: 'Take the St. Paul.' There was not a dissenting voice and yet there are five, six or seven different roads between the two cities.

"I said: 'Why shall I take the St. Paul?' They said: 'You will find there the right set of men running the trains. You will find the right kind of a train crew. You will find the right kind of service. You will be treated right.'"

There's a Concrete Reason Why "St. Paul" Service is Right

All equipment is "St. Paul" owned and operated and maintained at a high standard of excellence. All trainmen and all attendants are "St. Paul" employees, who in their loyalty and interest in the welfare of the "St. Paul" road are pleased to give prompt, courteous and attentive service. Try "St. Paul" service to the Twin Cities.

For What We Have Not.

Pausing today to observe the national holiday of Thanksgiving, and thoughtfully taking stock of numberless occasions for gratitude in possession, there seems to be this year striking occasion for especial thankfulness for many things we have not. Almost invariably the formal proclamation of Thanksgiving day by president and by governor enumerates among the inspirations for thankfulness escape from war, from famine and from pestilence. Perhaps as seldom before a glance at the world today will enable us to appreciate to a higher degree the significance of a situation which we have been accustomed to pass over too lightly.

The Balkan war has flooded southeastern Europe with sorrow, suffering and privation such as pen is powerless to adequately describe. Montenegrin women have seen their husbands shot down by Turkish bullets and have forsaken nursing to man guns. Turkish peasantry has felt the heavy hand of war's desolation and the plague's horrors. Russia, China and other lands are bending beneath poverty's burdens. Mexico is a hot-bed of revolt against one form of tyranny and another. The nations of Europe are staggering under their load of militarism, and even Great Britain is permeated by an unrest which makes the ultimate outcome a problem.

And we should be thankful not only for escape from conditions like these, but for the national spirit that is the balance wheel in every crisis. We need not boast. Great as has been America's progress we yet have much to learn. We are just beginning to be willing to take lessons from other peoples of earth—warnings if not examples—and this is the spirit that tints the future with its golden promise of still greater national achievements and still more abundant cause for thanksgiving. Make your giving of thanks today personal. Let there be an enumeration of the surroundings, the friends, the health, the happiness, the opportunity and the hope that carries Thanksgiving day very close to your heart. But do not fail to also take into account the larger conception of the national holiday, and do not underestimate the measure of gratitude America should yield today for the things she has not.

Testing Judicial Power.

Let none of the alarmists indulge in unnecessary fear that the appeal of the so-called "Tom Mrshall constitution" case to the supreme court of the United States is necessarily an attempt to resurrect the proposed new state charter which Indiana courts decreed should not be presented for sanction or repudiation at the polls early in November. This is promptly disavowed in the statement of the governor that the action is in no wise based upon personal desires which he may have in the matter.

The appeal is an attempt to secure from the highest court in the land a ruling as to the powers of the state courts, involving co-ordinate branches of the state government itself. Somewhat similar issue came up but a few weeks ago in the Porter race track case, in which Judge Tuthill, at Michigan City, held that the state judiciary had no power to regulate or restrain either the executive or the legislative branch of the state government in the exercise of its functions. This, we believe, has been held good as a general principle of law time immemorial. The appeal ought to settle once for all whether Indiana may amend its present constitution or adopt an entirely new one in any manner whatever without the proceeding being subject to supervision and control by the judiciary which the constitution itself creates.

A COURT OF WAGES?

(New York World.)

George W. Perkins has proposed that we have a court of business. The arbitrators in the case of the locomotive engineers now suggest a court of wages for labor employed upon public utilities. The court of business would supersede other agencies of government in the commercial world. The court of wages would make of labor engaged in public service a class apart, highly favored in some things and straight-jacketed in others.

Without intolerable despotism, we do not believe that a court of business could enforce its decrees against the wishes of business itself. We are sure that a court of wages which did not meet the views of labor would very soon be confronted by a recall of its decisions. Class courts must serve their classes or perish.

Industry and commerce are highly organized and both have received much attention from government. In the matter of bounties for some and regulation for others we are already on the border of public ownership. With a few courts of business and wages fixing prices and controlling markets, the transition from individualism to state socialism is likely to be made presently overnight.

Yet it should be remembered that public opinion and wisdom on the part of persons in interest have prevented serious railroad strikes in this country for many years, and that the point made by the arbitrators in this case may have been a hint only of what must be faced at some future time if such influences do not always prevail. It is a momentous suggestion and it should not pass unheeded.

Another experiment in democracy is soon to begin at Washington. There is a prospect that the tendency of government to place its clumsy hands upon all the activities of the people will be checked. There is a reasonable hope that the greed of privilege, the aggression of classes and the tyranny of bureaucracy, once reversed, will be followed by a sharp separation of politics from business and business from politics, to the advantage of everybody.

Not courts and commissions, not taxes and licenses, not paternalism and absolutism, but the diffusion of information, the arraignment of abuses at the bar of public reason and the extension of the powers of government only to such acts as are injurious to others—these were the principles that guided this nation to liberty, independence and greatness. There should be an attempt to re-establish them before we surrender the democratic ideal forever.

DYNAMITE AND PISTOLS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

It is one of the curiosities of the time that while the police and a large share of the press are devoting themselves to denouncing the indiscriminate sale of pistols and guns there is very little said about the indiscriminate sale of dynamite. Yet it appears from the testimony at the Indianapolis trial that dynamite can be purchased in any city or town with little more trouble than to buy a pound of pork chops or a bushel of potatoes.

The effect of the law against private ownership of firearms in New York has been to disarm the law-abiding while, as abundantly proved by recent crimes, the criminals remain fully armed. But as regards dynamite, except for large industrial uses, the law-abiding citizen who wants to use high explosive for special emergencies should not object to giving his name and references and showing the use to which the explosive will be put. It is a fair presumption that the unknown person who seeks to buy dynamite contemplates an illegitimate use—at least until he proves the opposite. The dynamite crime, too, is more wholesale and cowardly. The pistol kills but one man at a time, and that generally face to face. The dynamite explosion may blow a dozen innocent people to death to satisfy a sneaking revenge.

Certainly all the arguments that apply to a strict regulation of the sale of revolvers apply with much more force to a stricter regulation of the sale of dynamite, so that none of it can be used at any place in the country without having the records that will trace the ownership. It may be remarked, however, as a final consideration, that the effort to regulate either commerce will be futile so long as the power to do so is divided among four dozen different states.

THE PRESS DISCUSSES BALLOTS FOR WOMEN.

"Sure and Steady Progress."

Philadelphia North American: "The sure and steady progress of the women of the country toward political equality with men has changed during the last year into an onward sweep to the goal which is inevitable."

"Some General Sentiments."

Richmond Times-Dispatch: "The woman vote is not cast by the entire sex as a sex, but by individuals controlled by the same general sentiments that control men."

"Sane and Orderly."

Washington Post: "The American woman is winning her way by virtue of sane and orderly methods."

"Political Revolutions."

Denver Republican: "The election produced nothing to show that the extension of the franchise in the nation will work any political revolutions; certainly the voting in one state cannot be called more capricious than that in another."

Sisters Militant."

Philadelphia Inquirer: "If our sisters militant can persuade the wives, mothers and daughters of this commonwealth that they want or ought to have the ballot, that is all that need be done."

"Wise and Judicious."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "The reinforcement of the electorate of our country with nearly a million new electors, who for the most part will cast 'wise, judicious votes for the common good,' is to be welcomed in a hopeful spirit."

"Large Body of Opinion."

St. Louis Republic: "There is still a large body of opinion that women's suffrage is not the best thing for the country, and it will be most easily and wisely overcome by showing distinct betterment in government in states where women vote"

One of the Old Aqueduct Boys in Reminiscent Mood

"O would I were a boy again
When life was formed of sunny years."

Say boys of the Old Aqueduct club, if seignority has anything to do with the question you will have to elect me an honorary member or president of your club, because I went swimming in the old canal aqueduct, when many of you were not invented and many of you living in the diaper age, goo-gooing in your mother's lap, or "mewling and puking in the nurse's arms."

If any of you can truthfully tell me that you went swimming in the aqueduct when old Father and Mother Honey lived in an old log house right near the north end of the aqueduct, then you are capable of being in my class. Old Father Honey wore long hair braided, and held together with a leather queue, and his wife dressed in the age becoming the Pilgrim mothers. They lived in this old house all alone, no one knew them, except by the name Honey, and no one knew where they came from, nor where they went when the log house was destroyed. We boys looked upon the house as haunted, and almost feared to meet them walking occasionally back and forth on the tow path. While hundreds of naked boys could be seen during the summer near their habitation, none were ever disturbed by them. Many and many a whole afternoon did my brother Fred, Cousin Hugh and myself, with other boys from all over the village, spend a whole Saturday afternoon in the water playing all sorts of aquatic games, and dodging under the pathway where the horses walked when a canal boat made its appearance at either end of the aqueduct. It was a pleasant place for swimming, for the water was not more than four and a half to five feet deep and poured through with something of a current. The boys who could swim from the aqueduct to the Change bridge and back without stopping, were considered the strong swimmers. I lived in those sweet old days, the glad springtime of life, on the banks of the St. Mary's river, and I used to walk to the old aqueduct through the fragrance of apple and clover blossoms in my father's and Squire Rockhill's orchard, hearing the birds sing on the tall trees that fringed the river, and enjoying the beauty of the fleecy clouds floating between me and the blue sky..

My father believed in boys learning how to take care of themselves, so he taught me to swim at an early age, going with us to watch us, until we were able to paddle our own bodily canoes. He was raised at Kennebuck, Maine, on the Atlantic coast, among sailors, who showed the boys how to take a long stroke with a stiff forearm, and to shoulder the waves as they rolled in shore, and when fatigued, to lie on the back and float. So my mother never told me that I might go to swim, and hang my clothes on a hickory limb, but not to go near the water. She knew that boys took to water like ducks.

One of our choicest companions was a colored boy, employed by William C. Ewing, who went by the name of Blue Ewing. Mr. Ewing owned a pair of large Newfoundland dogs, called Rough and Ready, named after old Zachery Taylor, of Mexican war, and later presidential fame. These dogs were Blue's constant companions, going with him to carry market baskets, as well as to enjoy any fun with the boys that was going on.

Blue was as black as the ace of spades, as active as a cat, and as full of fun and deviltry, as any colored boy ever born. It was great sport for all the boys to try to catch him in the water, and it generally proved a difficult operation, on account of his skill in diving and activity when close pressed by jumping on the banks to run and jump off at another place. Our greatest enjoyment in this line was when we made the canal at the crossing of Ewing street our old swimming hole after night had cast its mantle around us. A long overhead bridge crossed the canal at this place, and there were docks along the south bank of the canal where stone for a lime kiln was unloaded, and logs to be sawed into lumber. Few people passed over this bridge at night and as the neighbors made no complaint there were no constables like Pat McGee and Kelley to make us afraid. As2 blue was blacker than the darkest night he was noe easily distinguished, either in water or on land except by the whites of his eyes and teeth, and we had great times trying to find him. When we did, he was liable to run up on the bridge and jump into the water, a feat that most of the white boys were afraid to follow. So he led a merry chase. The Newfoundland dogs enjoyed the water as much as the boys and it was always a sad night when Blue had house engagements at the Ewing mansion that prevented him from joining us. The canal was fed by water from the Saint Joe river, brought down by the Feeder canal, the water therefore, from so pure and close a source was cleaner than at points further away. The rivers had not been converted into sewers, as at the present time, so the boys of my age had many places to enjoy aquatic sports. Frequently after school hours we hiked to an old swimming hole in Spy Run, directly back of the residence of Mr. John Reuss. There was one place where the water was deep enough for small boys, and so secluded, from the road or residences that no complaints were ever made that I remember of against us.

I always lived on the west side of Calhoun street, except for a couple of years, when a man. I can therefore be classed among the west end boys unless I lived so long ago that you have forgotten me, which I hope is not the case. Permit me to become a member of your club, and if we have a chance to go swimming together, I will show you that I have not lost the art, which once required, is never forgotten. It is greatly to be regretted that the boys of Fort Wayne have no "old swimming hole" supplied with pure water, where they can enjoy one of the healthiest pleasures of youth as well as acquire an art that may at some time be of great advantage in saving life.

When the sewage of the city and surrounding county is not diverted to our rivers, many a bathing place could be readily established that would add much to the health and enjoyment of both boys and girls.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES M'CULLOCH.

QUOTES BIBLE TO CUT THEIR ANGER

Eloping High School Girl Says Alls Fair in Love and War.

THE PARENTS FORGIVE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 28.—"Psalm xxxvii. 8: 'Cease from anger, and forsake wrath; fret not thyself in any wise to do evil." This quotation, hastily scribbed on the back of a letter from Mrs. Marian Seymour Acker, 16 years old, 3822 Cook avenue, to her father, Charles Seymour, a bandmaster, caused the parental fires of wrath to melt and won forgiveness that will make Albert Acker, 19, 2831A Victor street, and his bride as happy as they say they want to be.

Acker, who is a clerk in the Missouri Pacific offices, met Miss Seymour last March. Her father noticed Marian lengthening her skirts, but thought nothing of it until later he entered her room and found her gone.

The bride's father promptly communicated with the police of Clayton, Alton and other towns. He traced the two to Clayton, only to lose them again. An exciting chase back to the city followed, the runaways eluding him at Eades bridge and escaped to Alton, where they were married.

Their honeymoon has been brief and somewhat stormy, for the bride is now at the home of her elder sister, Mrs. Emily Furman, 1121 Winnomal street, Chicago. The bridegroom is in seclusion at the home of his parents.

Mrs. Seymour, who had been visiting at Dallas, Texas, returned to St. Louis, and is expected to leave for Chicago, where she will make definite arrangements for the bride.

Seymour, when seen at his home, stated that he felt no resentment against the young folk. He believed, however, that they were entirely too young for matrimony.

"For four days following Marian's elopement I did not know what to think," said Mr. Seymour, "I received a telegram from my daughter, Emily, at Chicago, announcing that the runaways were safe and at her home. Then I received a letter from Marian."

The letter was scribbled on a scrab of plain paper and mailed at Kansas City, Mo. It reads:

"Dear Dad—Just arrived. We were married in Alton and we are very, very happy. Don't be angry, as all is fair in love and war. Do not try to locate us, as it would be useless. We are determined never more to part. Love to all.

"MARIAN.

P. S.—Psalm xxxvii, 8: Cease from anger, and forsake wrath; fret not thyself in any wise to do evil."

"I had fully determined to take steps to annul the marriage, but after receiving this letter I cannot," remarked Seymour.

Acker was persuaded to return to St. Louis, which he did.

Fred Seymour, brother of the bride, is a loyal friend to the young bridegroom. He vows that unless the stern parents relent he will use his month's salary and bring his sister back to her despondent husband.

"Everything doubtless will come out all right," declared Seymour. "The couple are very young and young Acker's salary now is $65 a month. Well, he'll have to do better than that. Why, he's been telegraphing and telephoning to Chicago three and four times a day since his return. At that rate he'll soon be bankrupt."

Miss Seymour was a Central high school girl and possesses a soprano voice of exceptional quality.

Mrs. Peter Bolan, 11501 Buckeye Rd., Cleveland, O., says: "Yes, indeed I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. My little boy had a bad case of whooping cough, some times he was blue in the face. I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and it had a remarkable effect and cured him in a short time." Remember the name, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and do not accept any substitute. Children like it, grown folks are quickly helped by it, and it contains no opiates. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

FORM CLUB FOR GOURMETS.

French Automobilists Cater to Insistent Appetites.

Paris, Nov. 28.—Automobilists whose palates have not been ruined by the dust of French roads and the cooking of stray inns have banded together for the protection of France. Our beautiful country is threatened with a peril greater than that of Germany. It is in danger of losing its supremacy in the art of cooking.

With due appreciation of the catastrophe which that would imply, there has just been formed the "Club des Cent." Its members must have driven at least 40,000 miles and must have some standing as gourmets.

According to many, a painful decadence in French cooking is becoming more apparent, and it is daily becoming more painfully obvious that it is difficult to get a really good French dinner in Paris or the other large towns.

"We have organized—myself and some of my friends," she says, "the Social Centers corporation, for the purpose of furnishing clean, healthful, attractive dance halls as community centers, where working young people can meet and dance and hold parties under happy and safe auspices, well chaperoned. In a great city like New York, or in the smaller cities like Newark, Bridgeport and New Haven, the young people are going to meet somewhere, somehow, for social intermingling."

Balkan Beauty Fights Turks Beside Her Soldier Lover—Here's Her Own Story.

TO FILL THE DEAD BROTHER'S PLACE AND KEEP A PROMISE TO HER DYING FATHER A NOBLE SERVIAN GIRL DEFIES BULLETS TO HURL BOMBS AT THE ENEMY.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The whole Servian army is talking about Sophia Yovanovitch, "the queen of the Servian troops." She seems destined to be immortalized in her country's history as the first woman to enter the field against the Turks.

This beautiful girl of 19, with expressive, dark blue eyes and the face of a madonna, is at the front, in the garb of a common soldier, carrying a carbine and enduring all the toil and fighting that fall to the lot of her comrades. And every man in the army treats her as a queen.

She distinguished herself in a battle with the Albanian Turks by fighting in the trenches, and then climbing to the top of a blockhouse, exposed to the deadly rifle fire, hurled a bomb into the charging enemy.

Miss Yovanovitch is engaged to a handsome military engineer who is a member of the same company, and is fighting by her side. They are to be married as soon as the war is over, and are then COMING TO AMERICA.

Here is the Soldier Queen's own story of how she came to join the army, and her adventures at the front, as secured by William C. Shepherd, a staff correspondent in Europe.

(By Sophia Yovanovitch.)

I was born in Belgrade on Jan. 26, 1893, and my parents were comfortably well off. My father and his parents at one time owned a great deal of land in Macedonia, and had suffered much at the hands of the Turk.

He was keenly interested in any political movement which might help achieve his ideal of a free Servia. For over 20 years he belonged to a Comitatje, an independant and irregular band of Christians who helped to keep the Albanian Mohammedans at bay.

My father's one sorrow was that he had no son to whom he could hand his rifle. When he was on his deathbed in September, 1911, he called me to his side and, placing my hands over his heart, asked me to swear by his memory and our name that if the occasion arose I would take the place of the soldier son who had died, in fighting the Turk.

I swore that I would do so, and ever after that oath was like something burning in my brain.

After leaving school at Belgrade, I worked as correspondent at a bank, and then at the state railway offices. On my father's death I started a dressmaking business.

When there was talk in September last of a possibility of war with Turkey I twice wrote to the committee of public safety, and begged them to obtain for me an audience of the king, as I wished to join the army. They replied that the king was very busy, and that they could do nothing for me.

I was eating my heart out with grief, but, of course, could do nothing. Then one day I had a happy idea. I would approach the king direct. I waited until King Peter opened the Skupstina and then approaching his majesty implored him to let me serve with his soldiers.

The king was most kind. He told me to see Gen. Yankovic (now commanding the third army), and the next day I received a letter to take to the general.

By the time I got to Nish, where the general had preceded me, I found that he had gone further on, but had left instructions for me. I was sent to Procupie, and there I was taught how to use a rifle and was made member of a comitatje.

After a fortnight's stay we moved on to Vrania. I then had my hair cropped quite short. I am afraid that I did mourn the loss of my hair, of which I had always been so proud.

A day before the declaration of war we crossed the frontier. Our comitatje was 50 strong, and the men were just like so many big brothers to me, but of course I did my full share of the work.

Our first fight was on the day before the declaration of war at Veyaglave (Veye'a head), when a band of Albanians attacked us. We entrenched ourselves behind a karaul (stone blockhouse) when the enemy fired upon us. At the word of command I took aim and fired.

Afterwards I was hoisted onto the top of the blockhouse and threw a bomb at the enemy.

There is something fascinating about the sound of rifle firing. I don't think I bothered about the danger.

Then we marched to Czernatchouka and had a long struggle against the Albanians. Being town-bred I suffered much in the hill climbing and scratched my foot, but that did not stop me from taking part in the battle.

Although I enjoy the fighting I will be glad when the war is over, for there are so many pitiful scenes that make one forget the glory of it.

TURKEY FLIES WITH WOMAN.

Fowl is Killed and "Passenger" Sustains Severe Injuries.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Nov. 28.—When Miss Effie Chance climbed a ladder to catch a high-roosting turkey the fowl flew just as she grabbed its legs. She hung on and was thrown to the ground, being rendered unconscious and sustaining a broken arm. The fall killed the turkey, which weighed twenty-four pounds.

A Genuine Rupture Cure Sent On Trial To Prove It

Don't Wear a Truss Any Longer.

After Thirty Years' Experience I Have Produced An Appliance for Men, Women and Children That Actually Cures Rupture.

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Send attached coupon today and I will send you free my illustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing my Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is an instant relief when all others fail. Remember, I use no salves, no harness, no lies.

I send on trial to prove what I say is true. You are the judge and once having seen my illustrated book and read it you will be as enthusiastic as my hundreds of patients whose letters you can also read. Fill out free coupon below and mail today. It's well worth your time whether you try my appliance or not.

The above is C. E. Brooks, inventor of the Appliance, who cured himself and who has been curing others for over 30 years. If ruptured, write him today.

Ten Reasons Why

You Should Send For Brooks Rupture Appliance.

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodied the principles that inventors have sought after for years.

2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.

3. Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never blisters or causes irritation.

4. Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, used in other trusses, it is not cumbersome or unsightly.

5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.

6. The soft, pliable bands holding the Appliance do not give one the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.

7. There is nothing about it to get foul, and when it becomes soiled it can be washed without injuring it in the least.

8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.

9. All of the material of which the Appliances are made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.

10. My reputation for honesty and fair dealing is so thoroughly established by an experience of over thirty years of dealing with the public, and my prices are so reasonable, my terms so fair, that there certainly should be no hesitancy in sending free coupon today.

Remember

I send my Appliance on trial to prove what I say is true. You are to be the judge. Fill out free coupon below and mail today.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your Appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, at times I did not know I had it on; it just adapted itself to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body, as it clung to the spot, no matter what position I was in.

It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They would certainly never regret it.

My rupture is now all healed up and nothing ever did it but your Appliance. Whenever the opportunity presents itself I will say a good word for your Appliance, and also the honorable way in which you deal with ruptured people. It is a pleasure to recommend a good thing among your friends or strangers. I am

Yours very sincerely,

Mr. C. E. Brooks.

Dear Sir:—I am glad to tell you that I am now sound and well and can plough or do any heavy work. I can say your Appliance has effected a permanent cure. Before getting your Appliance I was in a terrible condition and had given up all hope of ever being any better. If it hadn't been for your Appliance I would never have been cured. I am sixty-eight years old and served three years in Eckle's Artillery, Oglethorpe Co. I hope God will reward you for the good you are doing for suffering humanity.

Yours sincerely.

Others Failed But the Appliance Cured

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and more, for it cured him sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you. Yours respectfully.

Cured at the Age of 76.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—

I began using your Appliance for the cure of rupture (I had a pretty bad case) I think in May, 1905. On November 20, 1905, I quit using it. Since that time I have not needed or used it. I am well of rupture and rank myself among those cured by the Brooks Discovery, which, considering my age, 76 years, I regard as remarkable.

Very sincerely yours.
High Point, N. C. SAM A. HOOVER.

Child Cured in Four Months

21 Jansen St., Dubuque, Iowa.
Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—The baby's rutpture is altogether cured, thanks to your appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much as he did. He wore your brace a little over four months and has not worn it now for six weeks.

Yours very truly,
Andrew Eggenberger.

There will be over sixty guests present this evening at the Wayne hotel at the wedding dinner given by Mrs. Mason Long in honor of the marriage of her daughter, Miss Margaret Zoe Long, and Mr. Clarence Arthur Strayer, which will be a quiet affair at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride in Columbia avenue. The wedding ceremony will be attended by only the immediate relatives and will be performed by Rev. C. H. Snashall, pastor of the First Baptist church, with which the bride's family has long been identified. The bride will be given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. W. D. Henderson. There will be no attendants of the bride and groom. Mrs. C. A. Horton, harpist, Mrs. Florence Robinson Cleary and Mrs. May Swank Skinner, violinist, will give a musical program and harp and violin music will be played for the marriage service. There will be dancing in the east diningroom and lobby of the hotel after the dinner. Later the bride and groom will leave for Chicago to spend ten days and on their return will go to housekeeping in the Long home in Columbia avenue. There are a number of guests from away present to attend the wedding. They include the groom's mother, Mrs. M. J. Strayer, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Will Henckel, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Gutelius and the Misses Helen Comparet and Maria Catterson, all of Indianapolis; Mrs. Beals, Mrs. Louis Marks and Mrs. L. A. Rose, of Chicago; Mrs. E. F. Tierney, of Toledo, O.

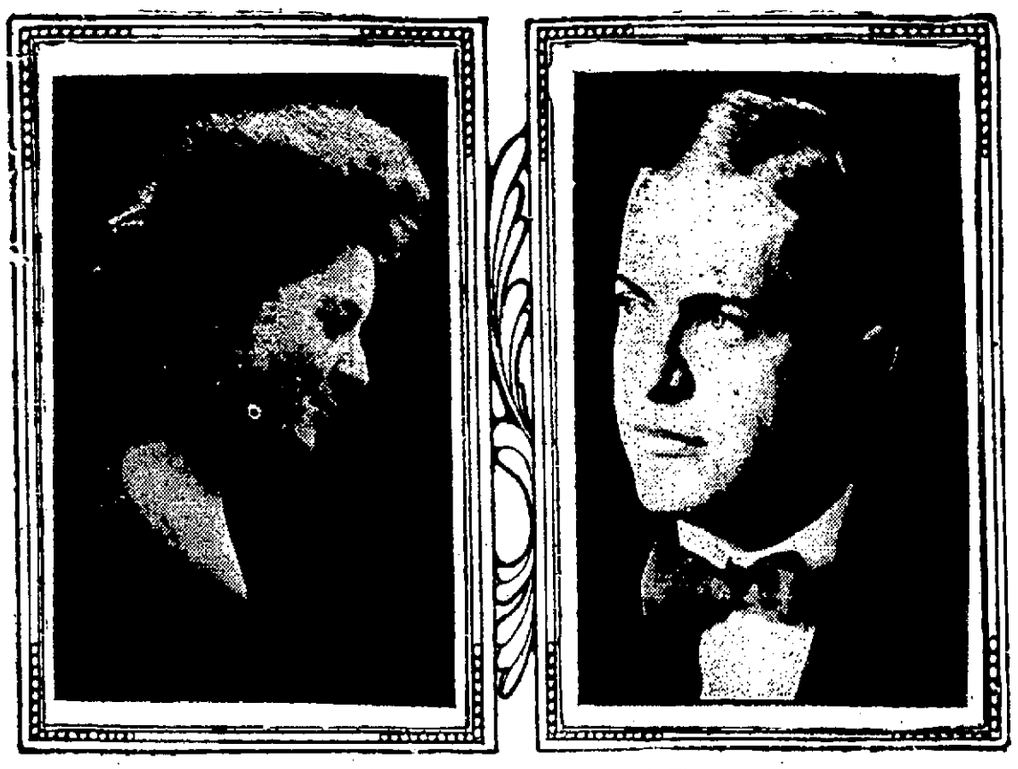
YOUNG VIRGINIAN CHOOSES BRIDE FROM FORT WAYNE.



MR. AND MRS. BERKELEY WARD, JR.

A beautiful bride of today was Miss Florence C. A. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Miller, of 222 East Pontiac street, who was married in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock this morning to Mr. Berkeley Ward, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley Ward, of Pacoujan Springs, Va. Low mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Delaney and special musical numbers were rendered by Prof. Henry Krull at the organ and Mrs. Clem Schuckman who sang. Messrs. Jerome Miller and the bride's brother, William Miller, ushered the guests to seats. The bride was attended by Miss Naomi Niblick of Decatur, and Mr. Henry Weaver, a cousin of the bride, was best man.

The bride was gowned in a blue velvet corduroy one piece gown with which she wore a coat of the same material with handsome jabeau of gold lace and fur, gloves and shoes to match the suit and a black velvet hat trimmed with pink ostrich plume. The bride wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas. Miss Niblick wore a brown diagonal cloth suit with brown velvet hat also trimmed in pink plumes and a blouse of brown silk with old rose trimmings. Her hat was of brown velvet and its trimming of pink plumes found a corresponding color tone in a bouquet of roses that she held.

After the marriage service members of the two families were served a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride. The bride's table was decorated in pink roses and smilax, with pink nut cases and pink candles in pink silk shades. Ferns and smilax decorated the rooms.

The bride and groom will leave on Sunday for a few days' trip south and after that will go to Baltimore where they will be at home after January 1, at 1619 Appleton street. Mr. Ward is an electrical engineer and is employed in the electrical department of the Pennsylvania railroad company in Baltimore. He was graduated from the University of Chillicothe, O. The bride received her education in the public schools of this city in the class of 1909 graduates. She is a charming young woman with many devoted friends. Guests at the wedding included the groom's parents from Virginia and Mr. R. H. Jackson, of Chillicothe.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Satan Sanderson" Tonight.

Despite the fact that the chief character in the play is an Episcopalian minister, "Satan Sanderson," which will be seen at the Majestic theater this evening, with Mr. Norman Hackett in the stellar role, is non-sectarian.

The piece is a dramatization of Hallie Erminie Rivers' book of the same title, telling the story of a young minister, who, through an accident, loses his memory. He strays into a little mining town in Colorado, where he is mistaken for Hugh Stires, his college chum. However he gradually causes the hatred that existed toward Hugh to be forgotten by his courage, clean living and protection to the weak—when Fate again intervenes and lifts the veil that has shrouded his eyes, revealing to him, his own self the Rev. Henry Sanderson, known at college as "Satan" Sanderson. The piece contains an unusually strong and sweet romance, and has several big dramatic climaves.

Oberammergau Players.

It is real art which the peasant players of Oberammergau present in their plays, art which every artificiality, it, is the art which has been given them by nature. Although they are called peasant players they are finished actors, with the distinction of really having lived through the conditions which they present on the stage. The repertoire of the peasant players consists of the exclusively of rural plays which depicts the life and aims of the village people of the picturesque and beautiful Bavarian Alps. These plays breathe the mountain air and the audience roams in its imagination in the scenes of the play, so naturally do these players depict the life, passions and emotion of these simple people.

The play tomorrow night is the three act comedy "Der Dorfpharrer" by Maximilian Schmeid, one of the most prolific German writers of modern times. The plot itself is simple and presents no great problem. The village parson is the friend and advisor to everyone int he village, to whom the village people go both for advice and arbitration in their disputes. The comedy role of the play is hinged on an illmated couple, who go to the priest on the least provocation to air their troubles. The situations which present hemselves when the couple finally decides upon a legal separation, is really comical and if related would rob the spectator of the best part of the amusement, depriving him of the tension in which he will be kept during the whole performance.

Special attention is called to the "Schupulatler" dances, the Bavarian warbling and various songs with which the play is interspersed.

"Little Women" Saturday.

William A. Brady will present at the Majestic theater Saturday afternoon and evening "Little Women," the story which made the fame of the late Louisa M. Alcott, and which, although first published forty years ago, still enjoys an annual sale of some 25,000 copies and quoted by the book dealers as one of the best sellers of the holiday period. The gross circulation of "Little Women" in America is said to exceed two million volumes. Large and repeated editions of "Little Women" have been published in England, France and Germany, translations having been made into the native language. It is in all school libraries, is used by all teachers, and is one of the works with which all embryonic instructors must familarize themselves who go through the training schools of Greater New York.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR PLAY.

Performance Enjoyed by Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

The annual performance of an amateur play given by and under the auspices of the Fort Wayne High and Manual Training school senior class came off last evening in the High school auditorium and an audience of several hundred people attended and gave vigorous applause and other appreciative evidences of pleasure.

The play was "All-of-a-Sudden-Peggy" and the players were coached by Ronald Dawson, the result reflecting much credit to him as well as to the members of the cast. Ashbaugh's Anthony orchestra played a delightful program between the acts and the entire performance of the play was thoroughly enjoyed.

NEW EMBROIDERED NINONS.

There is a positive rage for embroidered ninon gowns, most of them for evening wear, but some for afternoon. The colors are of the most vivid. One shade of glowing pink called "dahlia" is embroidered in the new lustre crystals and diamante, and is made up over deep purple, which subdues the brightness of the pink, giving it an artistic subtlety.

A gown made in these colors is fitted with a new sleeve, the ordinary kimono with a supplement edged with lustre crystals, and falling over the undersleeve. It is a relief from the rather dragged appearance that the kimono sleeve often presents. Another of these ninons is in canary-yellow, worn over Chartreuse green, and embroidered in a design of fringes, carried out in a scheme that may almost be called architectural. These fringes range diagonally in little squares, and not the least of their charms is the tiny musical tinkle that they make when the wearer moves.

Extremely brilliant is the tomato-red, just the shade of the fruit immediately before it ripens, embroidered in silver and crystal, and made with a draped panier which is lightly caught high at the back, thence falling almost to the hem.

The overcoat you wore last winter will be suitable for wear another season if thoroughly cleaned and pressed by the Troy Dry Cleaning Co. Phone 555.—Adv.

Says Health is Worth a Heap of Thanks, and if You Have It Not, Go After It!

BILLIE BUREK.

THE FIRST WORD—Let's be thankful that we are alive.

* * *

Be good to your self and be thankful for your blessings in the shape of health and good looks.

I have a theory that no one can be very unhappy who is in perfect health. When the black butterflies begin to flutter around my head and life begins to look as though it were not worth living I first take stock of my nerves and if they seem in good condition I go after my liver. There is nothing in this world that will give one such a sad outlook on life as an inactive liver.

It is astonishing to what a degree a physical disorder can affect the mind. A friend who is given to analyzing her own emotions told me of the surprise she felt to find, as she left her carriage to follow her husband's body to the grave, that even her great grief and desolation was swallowed up for the moment by mere physical pain when she caught her finger in the carriage door.

This little incident interested me greatly as it was such a good illustration of how dependent we are on the condition of our bodies, no matter what may be the state of our minds. No sorrow in the world should keep one from being thankful for good health, and every girl or woman who wishes to accomplish anything in this world should first get herself into good bodily condition.

I always insist upon taking stock of my physical being every morning, as an actress with poor health can never be a success. I do not allow myself to dwell upon my ills; I only keep count of my healthy organs and forget the "little miseries" as soon as possible.

My! but I am glad it is not fashionable to be in "poor health" any more.

Why not begin this week of thanksgiving to take stock of your health blessings? Be glad that your digestion is in such good shape that you can digest the turkey, which, by the way, is one of the most indigestible things brought to the table. Be glad that you have your nerves under control; that your complexion is fresh and ruddy; that your head never aches. If you find you cannot be thankful for all of these, turn your attention to putting the sick organs on a health basis immediately.

You cannot work or play; neither can you look well without good health and whether you have it or not usually depends upon yourself.

* * *

JUST ONE LAST WORD—Be thankful for life and fill it with love while you work for a strong, healthy body and a beautiful mind.

ORGANIZE AN ASSOCIATION.

Local Civil Service Employes Adopt Constitution.

A meeting of civil service employes identified with the Fort Wayne postoffice was held Wednesday night in the federal court room, and a constitution and by-laws for the civil service retirement association were adopted. A committee to solicit new members was appointed as follows: H. Lydick, George Brudi, L. C. Griffith, Fred Goeglein and Fred Gallmeier.

Thirty civil service men attended the meeting, and the matter of a fund for the pensioning of superannuated employes was discussed at some length. Fred Krueper was elected financial secretary of the organization.

ONLY TWO DRUNKS.

City Court Had a Short Session This Morning.

The municipal court docket contained only five names this morning, and all of the cases were decided in short order.

John Coffee, charged with practicing medicine without a license, had his case continued until Dec. 3. It is alleged that Coffee sold medicine to several farmers on the market place yesterday for fabulous prices. He is being held under bond of $25.

Peter Jenkins, a down and out drunk, was sent to jail for fifteen days. Pete Murray, who had a minor souse, got $1 and costs.

Bill Edwards, charged with public indecency, was dismissed. Edwards admitted that he had been drinking, and gave this as the cause of the act which he committed. This fact will not excuse anyone before Judge Mungovan, but he dismissed Edwards' case out of respect for the latter's family.

We Are Thankful

THE Day of Thanksgiving reminds us of a multitude of things for which we should be grateful. The past year has been one continued round of success for us in a business way. Hardly a day has passed that we have not heard expressions of confidence in this store; always there has been the feeling with customers that they could secure better values right here in this store than by going outside, or risking the disappointments incident to mail order buying. We have always sought to treat our people fairly, giving them the best values possible and standing, personally, back of every article sold.

That The People Appreciate Our Efforts Gives Us Real Cause For Thanksgiving

This confidence of our patrons has enabled us to go into the wholesale markets with greater assurance and buy more liberally and generously of the best in men's apparel so that we are prepared to show you a most tempting array of fine clothing and an amazing collection of the season's newest haberdashery.

We have planned to make this store the one best Christmas store in Fort Wayne in which to buy gifts for men. We want you to come in and see how well we have succeeded in our efforts to please you.

AWAY WITH CATARRH A FILTHY DISEASE

A Safe Old-Fashioned Remedy Quickly Relieves All Distressing Symptoms.

If you are subject to frequent colds, or if you have any of the distressing symptoms of catarrh, such as stuffed up feeling in the head, profuse discharge from the nose, sores in the nose, phlegm in the throat causing hawking and spitting, dull pain in the head or ringing in the ears, just anoint the nostrils or rub the throat or chest with a little Ely's Cream Balm, and see how quickly you will get relief.

In a few minutes you will feel your head clearing, and after using the Balm for a day or so the nasty discharge will be checked, the pain, soreness and fever gone, and you will no longer be offensive to yourself and your friends by constantly hawking, spitting and blowing.

Shake off the grip of catarrh before it impairs your sense of taste, smell and hearing and poisons your whole system. In a short time you can be completely cured of this distressing disease by using Ely's Cream Balm. This healing, antiseptic Balm does not fool you by short, deceptive relief, but completely overcomes the disease. It clears the nose, head and throat of all the rank poison, soothes, heals and strengthens the raw, sore membranes, making you proof against colds and catarrh.

One application will convince you, and a 50 cent bottle will generally cure the worst case of catarrh. It is guaranteed. Get it from your druggist today. Agents Meyer Bros & Co.—Adv.

BRAN SERVED TO HIDE THE BOOZE

Federal Authorities Find Car-Load of Real Liquor.

PROPERLY SEALED

Kansas City, Nov. 25.—A carload of bran stood on a siding in the Frisco yards. The bill of lading said it was a carload of bran and the seals on the door of the car were stamped "Missouri State Grain Inspection Department." A. T. Bagley and F. C. Pendleton of the department of justice, 310 Federal building, tore off the Frisco company's seals, also the grain inspector's seals. They found bran, all nicely laid sack on sack, but when they pulled down the sacks they uncovered sixty barrels of beer and sixty barrels of whisky. The car of "bran" was billed to Tulsa, Okla. The name of the consignor and the consignee are fictitious, but the department of justice will make an arrest or two very soon.

Two federal laws were violated—one for shipping liquor in unlabeled receptacles, and the other for shipping liquor into Indian country. A conviction under either means a fine of from $100 to $5,000 or from sixty days to five years in prison, or both.

THANKSGIVING MONKEYSHINES

Fill the Christmas Stockings With JEWELRY

Bought at Your Own Prices

Hundreds of people from this city and surrounding towns have attended this gigantic sale of high-grade, guarranteed jewelry sold at auction.

Diamonds, watches, necklaces, silverware, cut glass, rings, fobs, brooches, clocks and every article handled by first-class jewerlers, will be sold at auction prices to enable me to close out this stock. CAR DEVICE CALLS STREETS

New Invention Eliminates One Duty of Busy Conductor.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 27.—No longer will the street car passengers be compelled to distinguish such street names as "Washington" or "Broadway" out of a collection of sounds resembling a debate at a convention of Zulus, for two Spokane men have invented an electrical contrivance that will flash the street names as the car progresses. W. L. Andre and Frank J. Burns have worked five years on the plan and have just received a patent for a device containing the names of streets crossed by a given car, operated automatically by a wire attached to a revolving wheel, which is tripped and turned as it strikes each trolley wire. The inventors encountered difficulty in the matter of reversing the roll when the car reaches the end of the line, but this was obviated by an arrangement permitting the motorman to press a button to reverse the roll automatically.

JEFFRIES TAKES SLAM AT BOXERS

Says There Are No Clean Hitters in Game as of Yore.

SAYS HE'S DISGUSTED

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 28.—James J. Jeffries, once world's heavyweight champion, is disgusted with the fight game. He says so himself. His disgust is based on the loss of clean hitters and the predominance in the ring of the clinchers and rough work artists.

"There is too much holding, clinching and other rough work in the ring today," declared Jeffries in a recent interview.

"I was not fighting long before I came to the conclusion that it was of as much importance to me to thoroughly understand the rules as it was to know how to hit a blow properly.

"I studied them closely and the knowledge I gained was an important factor in helping me win my fights.

"How?" you may ask. In the first place in all my contests, I was never warned, cautioned or censured by any referee. There never was any occasion for it. I knew the rules and obeyed them at all times.

"Why a boxer should hold I never have been able to understand and when I see one doing so, I cannot help but believe he is afraid of getting hit. How in the name of heavens can you hurt any one in the ring by holding his hands or arms? You have to hit him to do that.

"The man who leads first always leaves himself open to counters more or less.

"Supposing both men adopt the same methods of boxing?" you may ask.

"That same thing has happened to me many times, and in that case I never hesitated to carry the going to the other man, and it was always under these circumstances that I got cut up the worst.

"I won the championship by a counter blow. I also defended my title on four other occasions by a counter.

"I beat Bob Fitzsimmons with a counter when he was coming to me, and won the championship. I later defended it against him and beat him a second time with a left-hand swinging counter to his body.

"I beat Gus Ruhlin and Jim Corbett each with the same counter and defeated Jim Corbett the first time with a left-hand swinging counter to the chin and put him out with one punch.

"How often do you see a boxer counter these days? Few can tell what a counter really is. It is usually rushing in with head down and slam bang away without the least effort to block, duck, or jump away from a blow. They swing from all positions and all angles and it is getting to be quite a common thing to see a boxer stand with his right foot forward.

"It is a wild rush and immediately a clinch and then a lot of slam bang on each other's backs with the open hands. The slapper is fast coming to his own. When nowadays do you see a boxer hit and drop his man for the full count in one punch? These things were a common occurrence years ago, and unless a boxer could do this when he had a good square crack at his man, he was not considered a good hitter.

"In my early fights I was constantly hurting my hands and thumbs. I used swings principally in those days and did not turn my hands properly when hitting. When I learned to hold them correctly I never received an injury to them, but still stuck to the foolish idea of bandaging my hands.

"I came to the conclusion that this also was a bad practice as I figured that I never wore them while training and there should be no good reason for doing so during a contest, so discarded them and never had the least trouble after.

"Good foot work is seldom seen these days. Many seem to think that the more a boxer dances and jigs around the ring the cleverer he is on his feet.

"Did you ever watch Jim Corbett, Abe Attell or Joe Gans? Any of these three great boxers could make you miss a blow by moving their feet an inch or two.

"Feinting is also a joke. Jim Corbett was the peer of all men a tthis art, and it surely is an art in itself.

"Corbett could, by feinting, make most any man hit any kind of a blow he wanted him to strike, and knowing this, it was an easy matter to counter.

"Referees are also somewhat to blame for the backward move in the boxing game. While many thoroughly understand the rules, they are powerless to a certain extent when it comes to enforcing them. But if they were more determined and hesitated less about disqualifying boxers for breaking the rules, they would soon bring it back to the real thing, the manly art of self-defense."

JOHNSON MODEST AND SUCCESSFUL

Big Salary Has Not Turned His Head the Least Little Bit.

WAS ALWAYS MARVEL

From stacking hay under a blazing sun for 15 small simoleons a month and meals, to flinging a small baseball two hours a day in the big show for six months at $7,500 per season, from hustling around in overalls and jumper year in and year out on one little farm to traveling about the land on Pullmans, wearing diamonds and silk pajamas, is the story of the rise of Walter Perry Johnson, champion pitcher of the major leagues. He has made his jump in six years, too.

In 1906 the famous twirler, then a tall angling kid with tremendously long arms, powerful shoulders and amazing innocence of the great wide world, was in Weiser, Idaho, far up on the top of the universe. He was only 18 years old then, but speed! Why, "speed" was Johnson's middle name.

Weiser sported a town team and Johnson was its pitcher. He didn't get much money, but he did get a lot of fun out of the game which he had always liked. He would toil all afternoon in the thin air, perspiring like a horse, always winning. Indeed, the better one becomes acquainted with this great twirler, the deeper the impression he makes. He is sober and serious at all times, there's nothing giddy about him.

The fruits of Johnson's success are many. In his traveling about the country with a big league club he has gained a polish he never would have had if he had taken that little tobacco store in Weiser, Idaho. He has learned much of the world, for he has seen much. He has not squandered his money, either, but has purchased a farm in Coffeyville, stocking it with the best live stock to be had, collecting hundreds of prize chickens, and using nothing but the latest improved machinery in all his farming operations.

"Do you know," says Walter, "I always look forward to going back to Coffeyville in the winter? I don't like the big cities, and I don't stay in them any longer than I have to. As soon as the season is over I rush back to my farm. That's the real life, on a farm. You have plenty of fresh food and plenty of work. That's all a man really needs, anyway. He doesn't really live, anyway, if he doesn't have them."

The rise of Walter Perry Johnson has been meteoric. He is but 2 years old on Nov. 6 of this year. Six years ago he was unknown, now his name is on everybody's lips. Then he was tempted to own a little tobacco store in the mountains of Idaho; now he has a big farm of his own in his native state, Kansas. Then he was poor, now he sports diamonds. In only one thing has he not changed. He is just as honest and just as simple in his tastes now as he was in Weiser. He is still the farmer boy though considerably polished by his associations.

AKRON IS READY TO SELL SHARES

Will Pass the Hat and Take Over Club Carried by Columbus.

SECURE THE PAPERS

Akron, O., Nov. 28.—The Akron Amusement company, which will promote baseball in Akron next season, has been incorporated at Columbus. It is capitalized at $10,000 and the stock in the new company will be sold at $25 per share.

The incorporation papers were filed by Attorney G. Ben Motz and the incorporators are Alex Sickerman, William H. Kroeger, Carl Seybold, C. P. Parker and George J. Harter.

As soon as the charter is received an active campaign will be inaugurated to secure the necessary caiptal to give this city a first-clatss baseball team in the Interstate league next season. The movement has the endorsement of the chamber of commerce and already morethan $3,000 has been subscribed by Akron stockholders.

The new company will take over the lease held by Robert Quinn on League park, and next season's games will continue to be played there.

George W. Pixley, William Geake, Charles A. Wilding, Frank E. Stouder and Charles E. Read will go to Indianapolis Friday morning to attend the funeral of John T. Brush, the base ball magnate. The services will be held under the auspices of the Masonic bodies. Mr. Brush was formerly associated with Mr. Pixley in the clothing business at Indianapolis.

FORMER HEAVY WEIGHT AND WIFE OUT FOR RIDE.

MR. AND MRS. JIM JEFFRIES.

MEMBERS OF CONCORDIA COLLEGE BASKET BALL TEAM READY TO OPEN THE SEASON TOMORROW NIGHT.

CONCORDIA TEAM TO PLAY RUBBER

Has Won and Lost One to Winona Which Plays Friday Night.

THE MEN ARE IN FORM

When Concordia and Winona meet in the opening basket ball game of the season at the college gymnasium tomorrow night the teams will clash for the rubber as each of them has one victory to its credit.

This will be the third meeting between the two clubs. They start the present season on even terms and as both are regarded among the college men of this vicinity as the leading clubs of this section the winner will be in line to meet the best in its class.

Concordia will play with Claus and Luersen as forward, Schabacker center, and Dau and Dorn at guard. Manager Claus has been working his men hard to get them into shape for the opening of the season and he had some difficulty in making his selections from the squad that reported to him for practice but he thinks he has the best timber in the college and hopes to maintain the excellent reputation Concordia holds in the line of college sports.

In addition to the big game there will be a preliminary in which the second Concordia club will meet the Fort Wayne high school. The manager of the high school team is requested to meet Manager McClaus at the college at noon tomorrow.

Players on the second Concordia team are Rehm and Daechner, forwards; Becker, center; Kund and Schlifke, guards. The preliminary game will be called promptly at 8 o'clock.

EVANSVILLE MAY MAKE AN APPEAL

Says It Was Ditched Without a Chance at the Franchise.

NEVER GAVE SUPPORT

South Bend, Ind. Nov. 28.—At the conclusion of the next meeting of the national commission Evansville will know whether she is to have Central league ball in 1913 without paying for it. Evansville baseball men have placed their case with the national tribunal, claiming the city was deprived of its ball club and franchise by the Central league without being given an opportunity to take over the baseball holdings there.

That Evansville will fail in her endeavor to break into the Central is the opinion of the league directors. One year the down state city made money, but has been rescued by the league on various occasions.

G. Will Bement kept baseball in Evansville for two years but was forced to give it up finally after many financial setbacks. He was succeeded by Walker, who hung on for three years, at the end of which period he, too, was forced to relinquish his hold. Then a stock company took charge and ran the club for two years. The third year the business men of the city quit cold and the club was taken over by Arthur Gross, who had furnished the baseball park. He took charge to insure himself against loss on the ball pasture.

During this time the league had saved baseball for Evansville twice, the business men of that city failing ever to help tide things over.

A. A. Grant came into control in 1910 and ran the club for one season with fair success but in the middle of the next failed. He had a first division team but the Evansville fans were as faithless as in the past, while the business men of the city refused to go bond on the $500 guarantee sum which was demanded of the club owner. In other cities the business men were glad to render that sort of aid. Then the league took over the franchise.

A chance was then given the business men of Evansville to take the club and retain baseball in their city. The best they would offer was a boosters' day and the use of the services of certain ones among them for clerical work for the remainder of the season.

This offer was not satisfactory, of course, and the club was maintained by the league the remainder of the season at a loss, its headquarters being made here. The sale of players, however, gave the league a little better than an even break on its connection with the club.

FRAME UP FIGHT FOR CORBY HALL

Friars Look For Big Attendance at Afternoon Battle.

SCHULZ DUE AT NOON

Members of the Friar football team had framed up a hard fight for Corby hall, and the Notre Dame warriors, who arrived at noon today, looked fit to stand for anything the local squad had in store for them.

At a final meeting in the club rooms today the Friars put the finishing touches on their war plans and then men were full of confidence and fight, and these two elements were counted on to carry them through to a victory.

Adolph ("Germany") Schulz was due to arrive in the city on the same train with the Corby hall squad, having been held at Madison, Wis., last night to attend a big feast given in his honor as coach of the victorious Badgers. He had agreed to officiate in the game this afternoon and made a hard trip to get here in time for his duties.

One of the most dangerous men on the squad is Kime, who is a mute, and who lost out on the varsity team on this account. He understands football thoroughly but it is necessary to give him the signals by tapping him on one of his legs, and this is a hard proposition, but Corby hall has managed to train him and use him to great advantage.

Advance sale of tickets indicates that there will be a bigger crowd on hand than at the Wabash Athletic club. The game will begin at 2:30 o'clock and will be preceded by the Central Catholic and Fort Wayne high school game.

As a fitting celebration of the close of a successful season the Elk band was engaged to give concert during the afternoon, and a banquet at the Anthony hotel will follow the last game.

FOGEL OUSTED FROM LEAGUE BALL

Says He Will Fight in Civil Courts and Pay No Attention to Ruling.

Horace S. Fogel, president until a few days ago of the Philadelphia National league ball club, says he will represent the team as he pleases and will go into the civil courts to maintain his rights and pay no attention to the action of the league directors in barring him from organized ball.

He says his reputation is at stake and the general impression among sport writers is that he has been made the "goat" for some of the other magnates. Part of the resolutions adopted by the league magnates in expelling Fogel are as follows:

"That the said Horace S. Fogel had produced no evidence whatever which tends to support his charges, reflections and threats.

"That this league hereby censures and condemns Horace S. Fogel for the utterances and publications made by him while president of the Philadelphia club.

"That the said Horace S. Fogel be and hereby is forever excluded from further participation in the councils of this league as the representative of the Philadelphia club or any other club."

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Koons are in South Bend attending the wooden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Betzler, which is being held today.

DR. HARDMAN, Specialist

Special Offer Until December 1st

CURES AT YOUR OWN PRICE—Every person who calls on me before Dec. 1st will not only receive a careful and thorough examination FREE OF CHARGE, but absolutely no fee will be charged during that time other than you yourself are willing to pay.

This is of special importance to every person who realizes the value of original methods. What I have claimed in reference to the influence of any Pelvic or Rectal Disease on the sympathetic Nervous System and all reflex conditions is now the accepted theory of the leading scientists.

No man can afford to undertake his daily work without being fully equipped mentally and physically.

I have for over sixteen years made a special study of these CHRONIC conditions and have perfected methods that will positively cure. Do not be deceived or be misled into thinking you can afford to prolong your suffering and misery, for what is a few dollars to be compared with health?

I am making this special offer until Dec. 1st to enable the thousands of sufferers to regain their health and to prove to you that the best is always the cheapest, and my terms are always reasonable considering the fact that when I acept a case I CURE.

I know that success and happiness depend on body and brain vitality. The lack of force is always due to functional decline, to a diseased condition of one or more of the organs of the body, or to a devitalized nervous system. The man who is not right physically and mentally and neglects himself not only limits his future prospects, but is using up the physical capital he has already possessed.

Every man who does less than he should do at his desk, in the shop or on the farm, is weak in some way. I have found that the man who cannot accomplish all he expects or hopes for is often the silent sufferer from some hidden disease that affects one or more of the important nerve centers of the body.

These neglected or unknown conditions are usually diseases of the pelvic organs, which reflexly act on the nervous system, which in turn has its influence on the brain. I have made a special study of the nervous system and have perfected methods that will CURE Pelvic Diseases. I will give you a searching and thorough examination and explain to you the true nature of your trouble.

EXAMINATION—My facilities for examination are unexcelled. I learn the exact condition of the rectum, the bladder and every organ of the genito-urinary system. This in itself is of the highest importance, inasmuch as a broken down nervous system and many or most of the troubles of the stomach, liver and kidneys, etc., are reflex and are the direct results of some pelviclesion or disease.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN and nearly all nervous diseases are the direct results of chronic or imperfectly treated Pelvic Diseases, such as Varicocele, Piles, Stricture, etc. I not only remove the cause, but my many years of experience in the treatment of nervous and pelvic diseases enable me by my special methods to revitalize the entire nervous system and to restore to perfect health nearly all sufferers from nervous breakdown and vital weakness.

BLOOD POISON—I use only the most advanced methods in the treatment of blood poison and kindred diseases.

PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT—This may result from a number of causes. The constant jarring and vibration of trains and trolley cars are a very potent cause. Bicycle riding and the use of riding implements on the farm are factors in producing this disease. In fact, the causes are so many and varied that fully 75 per cent. of all male adults are afflicted to a greater or lesser extent by this disease. The disease is so little understood, and as one of the principal symptoms is a pain in the back, it is usually called kidney trouble and treated with local applications or sedatives which can do no possible good whatever. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure about 90 per cent of all cases.

VARICOCELE—I cure Varicocele in a few days' or weeks' time without the use of the knife.

STRICTURE—I readily remove Stricture by my dissolvent method without the use of instruments.

RUPTURE, PILES, FISTULA, ETC., cured without detention from business and without the use of the knife.

If you live out of town wire or write on what train you will arrive and I will arrange my engagements so that I can see you at once.

The Bethany Bazar.

The Bethany Presbyterian church is preparing for the annual bazar to be given by the congregation in the church parlors on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of next week.

Assisting the pastor, Rev. C. O. Shirey, in plans for the bazar is the general committee composed of Harry McMillan, S. C. Moorhead, W. H. Stites and Mrs. Charles Olson.

BOARD TO ELECT OFFICERS.

Will Select Successor to the Late H. F. A. Gerke.

A meeting of the Wayne township advisory board will be held this evening in the office of Township Trustee Henry E. Branning, at which time a successor will be selected to the late Herman F. A. Gerke, president of the board, who died a few days ago. The present members of the board are E. R. Fox and J. H. Stellhorn. Mr. Fox, who is vice president, will probably be selected as president, at the election of officers to follow other business.

The board has adopted appropriate resolutions on the death of its president, Mr. Gerke.

KINDERGARTEN CLASS AT BLOOMINGDALE SCHOOL READY FOR THE THANKSGIVING CELEBRATION IN THE SCHOOL ROOM WEDNESDAY.

It was a most difficult task to get these little ones to direct their attention to the camera long enough to obtain a photograph and most of them divided it between the lens and some dainty little pumpkin pies which were waiting for them, along with pop corn and some other good things that go to make up a Thanksgiving feast.

A table extending the full length of the school room had been prepared for the occasion and the parents of the children were invited to see them at their little celebration. There were candles and flowers and the class made an attack upon the good things that indicated healthy appetites.

about my berth. I found the bed clothes and mattress on top of me. The lights were out and I grouped my way to Mrs. English and we got out. The car had gone down about twenty feet and was at an angle. Some of the people in the car were hurt, but not seriously. I could not tell how the wreck occurred."

Few of the passengers had any idea of how the wreck occurred. Some said that a broken rail was the cause of the accident, but all agreed that but for the steel cars there would have been many more casualties.

A party of railroad officials left Philadelphia early today for the scene of the accident to conduct an official investigation.

Wrapped in Blankets.

A special train was made up at Harrisburg to take all passengers for Pittsburg and beyond. Several of the passengers reached Harrisburg without overcoats and wrapped in blankets. They were provided with clothing and given places on the special. The remarkable part about the wreck was that so many of the passengers had their baggage. They said that after the first shock when the cars toppled over and they found no fire or serious damage to the structures of the cars that they were able to group their way back to berths and dress by the light of lanterns. Some of the passengers hustled into their clothes while standing in vestibules.

FOURTEEN MUST GIVE NEW BOND

Indemnified Surety is Set Aside by Judge A. B. Anderson

IN DYNAMITE CASE

Indianapolis, Nov. 28.—On the ground that their present bonds, aggregating $105,000, were indemnified and therefore invalid, fourteen of the forty-five defendants in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial were instructed by the court yesterday that "within a reasonable time" they must obtain new bonds or remain in jail during the intervals between sessions of the trial. The court held that, as it was on the eve of a holiday, he would not enforce his ruling tonight, in which event attorneys for the defense said the defendants must inevitably have gone to jail, for new bonds could not be had on such short notice.

Three other defendants—Herbest S. Hockin, Indianapolis, and Edward Smythe and James E. Day, Peoria, Ill.—have been confined in the county jail in the custody of federal officers for several days because they were unable to furnish bonds aggregating $15,000.

In the argument over the point Judge Anderson accused Alfred R. Hovey, of counsel for the defense, of being "insolent" to the court, adding, "if you repeat the offense I'll put you where you will need some bonds."

Ryan and Butler Excepted.

At first District Attorney Miller included Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and John T. Butler, vice president of the union, among those whose bonds, he said, were indemnified, but later attorneys for them announced that the indemnity had been withdrawn and the bondsmen alone were responsible for the appearance of these particular defendants. Mr. Miller intimated that some time before next Saturday might be the limit upon which the men may remain at liberty on their present bonds.

Judge Anderson ruled that a bondsman who was secured against liability, either by a defendant or by a third person, had no interest whether the defendants appeared and that indemnified bonds were "against public policy."

Men Ruling Affect.

Those whom the court ruled must furnish new bonds are:

Frank C. Webb, New York; Clarence E. Dowd, Rochester, N. Y.; William K. Benson, East Golway, N. Y.; George Anderson and Peter J. Smith, Cleveland; Hiram Cline, Muncie, Ind.; Spurgeon F. Meadows, Indianapolis; Daniel Buckley, Rock Island, Ill.; P. A. Cooley, New Orleans; Frank J. Murphy and Charles Wachtmeister, Detroit; Frank K. Painter, Omaha; Henry W. Legleitner, Denver, and J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City.

Benson formerly was head of the Detroit Federation of Labor. Kline and Meadows are officials of the International Association of Carpenters and Joiners and Dowd formerly was an organizer of the International Association of Machinists. All the others are officials of the iron workers' union.

Says Prosecutor Signals.

During the cross-examination by Senator Kern of Orlie E. McManigal Mr. Hovey interrupted the proceedings by saying:

"Your honor, I want to call your attention to the district attorney giving signals to the witness by shaking his head."

District Attorney Miller: "I was doing nothing of the sort."

Judge Anderson to Mr. Hovey: "Sit down; I can see when there is anything going on here."

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

BUSINESS WAS VERY HEAVY

Thanksgiving, 1912, Breaks Record in the Way of Local Travel.

WABASH ANNOUNCES IMPORTANT CHANGES

Knickerbocker Appointed Division Freight Agent Succeeding Sprott.

The business on all of the steam and electric lines running in and out of Fort Wayne Tuesday, Wednesday and today have given emphasis to the claim of the railway men that cheap rates on short time limit do not increase the business of the lines greatly. Every railway and interurban local train or car leaving this city on the days named carried passengers who were going to spend the Thanksgiving day with friends in another town or in the country and all the incoming trains brought in big crowds from stations along the various lines upon a similar mission. As a whole the passenger business to and from Fort Wayne was greater this year than on previous Thanksgiving weeks.

FIRST AID INSTRUCTIONS.

Dr. C. B. Stemen Will Hold Schools in Fort Wayne.

Soon after Dr. C. B. Stemen, chief surgeon of the Pennsylvania, has moved into the offices now being prepared for him at Calhoun and Brackenridge streets and has the dispensary for the treatment of Pennsylvania employes in operation, he will commence instructing the clerks, foremen and others in the shops on first aid to the injured. Dr. Stemen conducted a similar course some time ago and the good results are apparent in every accident at the shops, in the yards and on the road. The clerks in all of the departments are well informed in first aid to the injured and frequently stop hemorrhages that would have serious resuls were they permitted to continue until a surgeon could reach the patient. The treatment these clerks give the patient also often prevent infection of the wound and blood poisoning.

FORT WAYNE BOY ADVANCED.

Dale E. Gilbert Commercial Agent at Cleveland.

Cleveland is rapidly becoming one of the greatest freight centers in Ohio and most of the roads of this section of the country have commercial agents there. The Wabash will open such an office December 1 and the appointment has fallen upon Dale E. Gilbert, son of Commercial Agent A. L. Gilbert, of this city. For the past three years Dale Gilbert has been traveling freight agent in Pittsburg territory for the Wabash. Previous to taking this position he was connected with the office of the late District Freight Agent W. A. Sprott, of Toledo. He knows the freight business thoroughly, growing up, as it were, with it in his father's office first at Attica and later at Fort Wayne.

KEKIONGA TO ENTERTAIN.

Will Have Guests From Other Railway Centers.

An entertainment will be given at Unity hall, Calhoun and Holman streets, on Friday, December 6, by Kekionga division, No. 51, Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors. A business meeting will be held in the afternoon, followed by a 6 o'clock dinner, to which the husbands of the ladies' auxiliary will be invited, and in the evening there will be installations of officers and other exercises. The auxiliaries from Garrett, Huntington, Bellevue and Lima have been invited and will be in attendance.

SUCCEEDS W. A. SPROTT.

G. C. Knickerbacker Appointed District Freight Agent.

Bulletins are out announcing the appointment of G. C. Knickerbacker division freight agent of the Wabash, with headquarters at Danville, Ill., succeeding W. A. Sprott, deceased. R. A. Brown, contract freight agent at Minneapolis, has succeeded Mr. Knickerbacker at Buffalo as traveling freight agent. No appointment for the Minneapolis position has yet been announced. Mr. Knickerbacker is well known all along the line of the Wabash, having been agent at different times at Defiance, Peru and Lafayette.

K. L. SHEELER QUITE SICK.

K. L. Sheeler, claim agent in the law department of the Western division of the Pennsylvania, is sick at the home of his parents in Columbia City. His condition this morning was slightly better than yesterday and Dr. Linville, who is attending Mr. Sheeler, believes he will escape a serious attack of pneumonia, which threatened yesterday. Mr. Sheeler was taken ill last Monday, while in his office in this city, and immediately went to Columbia City.

SANITARY DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

Foreman R. C. Steger, of the copper shop of the Wabash, installed a homemade sanitary drinking fountain at the Wabash depot yesterday and the public drinking cup has been banished, in conformity to the laws bearing on that matter. While the fountain is not as elaborately finished as some, it is just as good as the best and will serve the purpose during the year or so it will be needed, for the Wabash is planning to erect a new depot here.

WILL ORGANIZE A UNION.

Oscar Lee, of Indianapolis, an organizer or the Draymen and Truckmen's union, will be in Fort Wayne Saturday afternoon to address the draymen at Langard's hall and set in motion a movement to organize a union similar to the draymen's organization in Indianapolis. Mr. Lee feels that there is need of an organization of this kind here.

WILL HOLD SPECIAL MEETING.

Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, will hold a special meeting at the hall at Main and Cherry streets, at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Business of importance is to be considered and the officers of the division hope to have a good attendance at the meeting.

GOT MIXED ON NAMES.

The city papers erroneously reported that R. F. Douglas was dangerously ill at Los Angeles, Cal. It is Mrs. Douglas who is sick and her condition is such as to cause grave apprehensions in the minds of her friends. The error was due to confusion in receiving a telephone message.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Wabash Switchman Robert Rehrer is taking a lay off to spend the day with friends in the country.

Miss Irma Kline, telephone operator at the Fort Wayne Electric works, is spending the day at Monroeville.

Ben Romy, night yard clerk for Yardmaster C. F. Malcolm, has gone to the country to spend two or three days and Harry Patterson, a clerk in the freight house, is acting yard clerk during Mr. Romy's absence.

Engineer J. E. Sibel, of the Wabash, has returned from the west, but will not be able to resume work on the Wabash for some weeks on account of still being afflicted with rheumatism. He is attending the wedding of his brother, Bert Sibel, and Miss Clara Barnhart, in Eel River township, today. The bride and groom will reside on Wells street. Bert Sibel will be deputy sheriff when Mr. Gladieux assumes the duties of that office.

Sky Scout Flies in Deadly Circle That Killed His Comrade and Escapes to Direct the Bombardment of Adrianople.

The Bulgarian army, halted by the stubborn resistence of besieged Adrianople, wanted accurate information of the Turkish garrisons and guns. The old way would have been to send a spy into the besieged city, or to bribe a Turkish traitor. The new way was to send up a sky scout.

General Yaukoff ordered an army air man aloft to reconnoiter. He fell inside the walls, riddled with Turkish bullets.

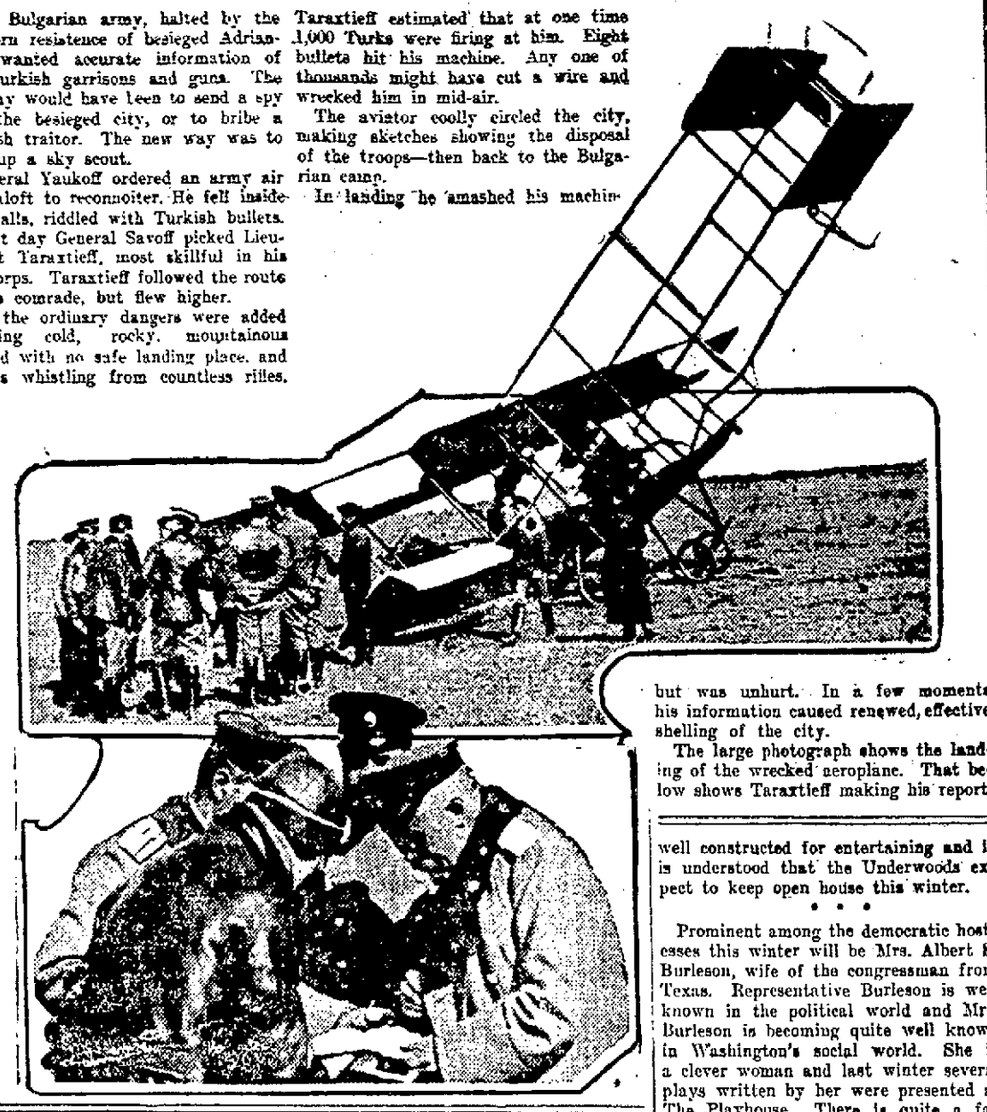
Next day General Savoff picked Lieutenant Taraxtieff, most skillful in his sky corps. Taraxtieff followed the route of his comrade, but flew higher.

To the ordinary dangers were added numbing cold, rocky, mountainous ground with no safe landing place, and bullets whistling from countless rifles. Taraxtieff estimated that at one time 1,000 Turks were firing at him. Eight bullets hit his machine. Any one of thousands might have cut a wire and wrecked him in mid-air.

The aviator coolly circled the city, making sketches showing the disposal of the troops—then back to the Bulgarian camp.

In landing he smashed his machine but was unhurt. In a few moments his information caused renewed, effective shelling of the city.

The large photograph shows the landing of the wrecked aeroplane. That below shows Taraxtieff making his report.



SHOCK WOULD BE STARTLING ONE

If Democratic Politician Reached Capital Not Looking for Job.

PETITIONS POUR IN

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Nov. 28.—The most Startling spectacle which could be seen in Washington these days would be the arrival of a democratic politician not looking for a job.

The applications on file already number over a hundred thousand and they are arriving in the mails at the rate of 10,000 a day. Democratic congressmen when they appear in town have a hunted look and are careful to conceal their whereabouts and to escape as quickly as possible. The situation is strained and rapidly becoming worse. There is little hope.

* * *

Social Washington is much interested in the news that among the elected democrats from New York is Peter Goelet Gerry. Mrs. Gerry was Mathilde Townsend of this city, one of the most beautiful of Washington's women. There is a well known portrait of Miss Townsend which was on exhibition in Chicago and at the Corcoran gallery and which has been reproduced in many art magazines, so that her face and figure are familiar to thousands. The Townsend residence on Massachusetts avenue is one of the points of interest shown to visitors. Her marriage to Gerry occurred only about a year ago and was a love match. Every appearance indicated that she would contract a foreign marraige. Much of her life was spent in Paris and she was a favorite with foreign diplomats. Her husband is a son of the Gerry who founded the Gerry society for the protection of children.

* * *

Majority Leader Oscar Underwood has purchased the historic residence at 2000 G street, northwest, and is preparing it for his winter home. During the Cleveland administration this house was a meeting place for democratic leaders, its owner then being Alfred A. Wilson, United States marshal for the District, a close friend of Mr. Cleveland. The property was lately that of Major Archibald Butt, who was lost in the Titanic disaster. The house has fourteen rooms, with three baths, and is well constructed for entertaining and it is understood that the Underwoods expect to keep open house this winter.

* * *

Prominent among the democratic hostesses this winter will be Mrs. Albert S. Burleson, wife of the congressman from Texas. Representative Burleson is well known in the political world and Mrs. Burleson is becoming quite well known in Washington's social world. She is a clever woman and last winter several plays written by her were presented at The Playhouse. There is quite a fad for amateur dramatics in Washington. This season, in addition to The Playhouse, which was an enterprise started by Preston Gibson, there is a new amateur theater built by Mrs. Edson Bradley at a cost of $100,000, connected with her residence, which is on Dupont circle, where the old Garder Hubbard house formerly stood.

* * *

Among those enjoying cabinet booms is Herbert Quick, "prominently mentioned for secretary of agriculture. Quick is editor of Farm and Fireside. He is the author, also, of many books on many subjects. He is a man of great versatility and is well known to farmers and other people in all parts of the country. He was at one time mayor of Sioux City, was editor of La Follette's Weekly when that paper first began; he is a conservationist and specialist on parcel post and postal savings banks, and has written voluminously on waterways and kindred subjects.

A map has been hung in the office of the good roads bureau showing 16,000 miles of new transcontinental, interstate and trunk line roads which are either in course of construction or genuinely contemplated. Mr. Logan Waller Page, director of the roads department, says that the present problem is maintenance and not construction. Thousands of miles of roads are being built without any provision at all for keeping them in existence. To build a road and not provide for its upkeep is a crime.

The answer to the New England railway monopoly situation is to be a movement to have the state of Massachusetts buy the railroads. It has been decided by those interested that the state has full authority to purchase a controlling interest in the stock of the New Haven, which has been made the holding company for this monopoly.

SHOCK WOULD BE STARTLING ONE

If Democratic Politician Reached Capital Not Looking for Job.

PETITIONS POUR IN

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Nov. 28.—The most Startling spectacle which could be seen in Washington these days would be the arrival of a democratic politician not looking for a job.

The applications on file already number over a hundred thousand and they are arriving in the mails at the rate of 10,000 a day. Democratic congressmen when they appear in town have a hunted look and are careful to conceal their whereabouts and to escape as quickly as possible. The situation is strained and rapidly becoming worse. There is little hope.

* * *

Social Washington is much interested in the news that among the elected democrats from New York is Peter Goelet Gerry. Mrs. Gerry was Mathilde Townsend of this city, one of the most beautiful of Washington's women. There is a well known portrait of Miss Townsend which was on exhibition in Chicago and at the Corcoran gallery and which has been reproduced in many art magazines, so that her face and figure are familiar to thousands. The Townsend residence on Massachusetts avenue is one of the points of interest shown to visitors. Her marriage to Gerry occurred only about a year ago and was a love match. Every appearance indicated that she would contract a foreign marraige. Much of her life was spent in Paris and she was a favorite with foreign diplomats. Her husband is a son of the Gerry who founded the Gerry society for the protection of children.

Majority Leader Oscar Underwood has purchased the historic residence at 2000 G street, northwest, and is preparing it for his winter home. During the Cleveland administration this house was a meeting place for democratic leaders, its owner then being Alfred A. Wilson, United States marshal for the District, a close friend of Mr. Cleveland. The property was lately that of Major Archibald Butt, who was lost in the Titanic disaster. The house has fourteen rooms, with three baths, and is well constructed for entertaining and it is understood that the Underwoods expect to keep open house this winter.

* * *

Prominent among the democratic hostesses this winter will be Mrs. Albert S. Burleson, wife of the congressman from Texas. Representative Burleson is well known in the political world and Mrs. Burleson is becoming quite well known in Washington's social world. She is a clever woman and last winter several plays written by her were presented at The Playhouse. There is quite a fad for amateur dramatics in Washington. This season, in addition to The Playhouse, which was an enterprise started by Preston Gibson, there is a new amateur theater built by Mrs. Edson Bradley at a cost of $100,000, connected with her residence, which is on Dupont circle, where the old Garder Hubbard house formerly stood.

* * *

Among those enjoying cabinet booms is Herbert Quick, "prominently mentioned for secretary of agriculture. Quick is editor of Farm and Fireside. He is the author, also, of many books on many subjects. He is a man of great versatility and is well known to farmers and other people in all parts of the country. He was at one time mayor of Sioux City, was editor of La Follette's Weekly when that paper first began; he is a conservationist and specialist on parcel post and postal savings banks, and has written voluminously on waterways and kindred subjects.

BRIDGE OR BABIES MOTTO.

Actor Declares Society Craze Causes Race Suicide.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 28.—Women must give up either bridge or babies, the two being incompatible, declares John Drew.

"A woman can not devote herself to bridge playing and at the same time perform her—well, her maternal duties," says Drew. "Bridge certainly is a cause of race suicide. And it has become so serious that it can't be ignored any longer. In England the bridge craze has become so violent, they tell me, it is actually hurting the business at the theaters. There are many people who would rather play bridge than eat.

"So it takes no great stretch of the imagination to think of women preferring bridge to babies. For, you know, babies take time and attention, and a woman can not devote her time to bridge playing and still perform her maternal duties."

Mr. Jas. V. Churchill, 00 Wall St., Auburn, N. My kidneys and bladder are again in a healthy condition. I gladly recommend them." Many an old soldier has never recovered from the effects of army life. Acute Stomach Distress Relieved In Five Minutes

That lump of lead feeling will quickly leave the stomach; the digestive juices will commence to digest food and your stomach will feel fine and satisfactory in five minutes.

That is, if you will simply swallow two MI-O-NA STOMACH TABLETS if you won't then you must suffer.

Perhaps you don't know that MI-O-NA STOMACH TABLETS are guaranteed to cure any case of indigestion, no matter of how long standing, or money back.

Perhaps you know that when your stomach is upset, that your food does not digest and consequently blood is not furnished with sufficient nutrition to properly nourish the body.

If you are distressed after eating; if gas or sour food is forced up into the mouth, then your stomach is not right; your food is fermenting, not digesting, and you need MI-O-NA STOMACH TABLETS and need them badly.

It's an easy matter to set the stomach right, and if your stomach does not properly digest the food you put into it, the proper thing to do is to get a box of MI-O-NA STOMACH TABLETS at once.

Meyer Bros. Co. guarantees them. Druggists everywhere can supply you at 50 cents a box.

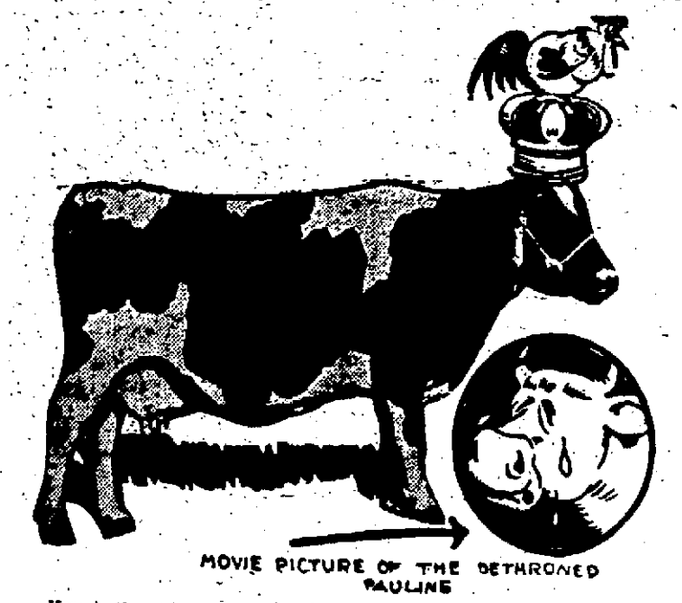
"Um-Baah! Um-Baah!" It's the Mournful Bawl of Pauline Wayne.



Here is the white house cow, who will take the place of President Taft's celebrated "Pauline Wayne," the 4th of next March, if President-elect Wilson will accept her.

She now lives near Waterloo, Iowa, on the stock farm of William Galloway. She is the pick of Galloway's herd of imported Ayreshires, and took a blue ribbon at the recent state cattle congress.

Pauline, the bovine standpatter, is reported as very indignant at the prospect of being driven out of her comfortable quarters to make room for a democratic cow.

RESENT ATTACK ON NIFTY THINGS

Matrons Won't Have Their Daughters Looking Shabby.

EVEN YOUNG ONES

Oklahoma City, Nov. 28.—Oklahoma club women were aroused by the address made before the general council of the Oklahoma State Federation of Women's clubs, in session in this city, of Miss Ada Robinson, art teacher and chairman of the committee on art of the state federation.

Miss Robinson was scheduled to give a lecture on "Art in Dress." Her talk was primarily a discussion of the "inartistic," and in that classification was included practically all the styles which are especially in vogue at the present day. She started out with a criticism of the dress of the high school girl of today, with especial reference to the folly of silk hose and nifty adornments.

That brought forth some sniffs from one section of the women in the audience, who remarked audibly that they didn't propose to have their daughters looking like frumps, even if they were still going to high school.

A little further on she warmed to her subject and turned her attention to the matrons themselves, deploring the tight garments, the decollete effects, the powder and rouge and the transparent yokes worn by maturer women.

When she reached that point a large portion of her auditors agreed that she was getting clear away from her subject. The society editor of an Oklahoma City paper took up the controversy on behalf of the outraged ones and remarked in her report of the lecture that "what her talk had to do with the subject announced was left for the imagination of the audience."

Other women who have been adherents of the reform idea and have decried the present fashions sided with the lecturer and resented the criticisms directed toward her.

Each side includes many of the leaders in society and club circles of the state, and there is no telling at this time how far the controversy will spread.

SHE KNOCKS PIPE FROM HIS MOUTH

Car Smoker Grew Insulting When Asked to Desist.

REAL RIOT ENSUES

New York, Nov. 28.—Street car conductors in New York who do not know how to make a man quit smoking on the platform of their cars in violation of the rules of the company should apply to Mrs. Sidney de Kay for instruction.

Mrs. de Kay lives at 50 West Ninth street and is the mother of Eckford C. de Kay, military secretary to Governor Dix. She caused the arrest of Robert Leslie, who said he was a carpenter, 23 years old, living at 316 West Twenty-eighth street. Mrs. de Kay assured the police that she would be on hand to press the complaint when Leslie was brought into police court.

Coming south on a crowded Sixth avenue car, both Mrs. de Kay and Leslie were compelled to stand on the rear platform. The carpenter was smoking a pipe. He puffed complacently until Mrs. de Kay began to choke from the fumes. Then she appealed to the conductor.

He asked Leslie to stop smoking. The carpenter preferred to continue and told the conductor so. Then Mrs. de Kay adopted moral suasion with the carpenter; whereupon he not only proceeded to violate the city ordinance against the "emitting of thick, black smoke," but used language which Mrs. de Kay considered improper. Without apparent chance for assistance from the conductor or others, she thereupon knocked the pipe from Leslie's mouth.

In the hub-bub that followed Policeman Dugan of the Charles street station appeared and arrested Leslie and took him to the police station. Mrs. de Kay was only too glad to follow. Leslie insisted that he had been assaulted and wanted Lieut. Lyon to entertain such a charge against Mrs. de Kay. The lieutenant heard Mrs. de Kay's version of the incident and refused to enter any charge against her.

Later, it was said, Leslie was found to be suffering from "asthma" and was sent to St. Vincent's hospital; but soon afterward he was locked up.

POLICE NEVER TRIED BEER.

Statement of Squad Member Astonishes Brooklyn Magistrate.

New York, Nov. 28.—A policeman who never tasted beer, though a member of the police excise squad, was discovered in the Flatbush police court in Brooklyn in the person of Walter D. Martin, formerly of the Hamburg avenue station. Policemen Martin and Kane had arrested two saloon keepers for excise violations.

"Will you swear the drink served to you was beer?" asked Magistrate Harris when Martin took the stand.

"No; I didn't taste it," said Martin.

"Why not?"

"I don't drink. I hate the stuff and won't drink even when investigating excise cases," replied the policeman. "I told this to Inspector Schmittberger and he said likely I could tell liquor by the smell."

The case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Why Is Fort Wayne Firm?

Because Its Citizens Have Learned The Truth.

After reading this generous and encouraging report from Mrs. Bender those who have the misfortune to suffer as she did from kidney trouble will naturally long to get similar relief. But to get the same good as Mrs. Bender had, you should get the same remedy. There are of course, other kidney pills but there are no other kidney pills the same as Doan's. That is why Fort Wayne people demand the genuine.

Mrs. E. Bender, 817 St. Mary's Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I can highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Some time ago a member of my family suffered from lumbago and was hardly able to work. A friend advised him to use Doan's Kidney Pills and he did so. Two boxes entirely cured him and since then he has had no reoccurence of the trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Adv.

YOUR THANKSGIVING DINNER

By DR. WILLIAM A. EVANS,
Noted American Food Authority and Former Health Commissioner of Chicago.

Thanksgiving dinner is a dangerous thing—and must be handled carefully, for if you don't get the better of your dinner it is certain that it will get the better of you.

In the first place, remember to eat slowly and to chew your food thoroughly. That is half the battle. The other half consists in holding down on the consumption of indigestibles.

DR EVANS.

Begin slowly. A meal well begun is half won. Eat the soup, don't gulp it. Chew well the bread or crackers you take with it, and the vegetables and meat, if it be a vegetable or turtle soup.

Browse around a little on celery or some other relish.

When you come to the piece de resistance—the turkey, or roast, or whatever it be—tackle it gingerly. Chew diligently, eat plenty of bread—and whatever you do, DON'T eat any of the "stuffing."

Eat plenty of the cranberry sauce and help yourself liberally to other fruits.

Eat a light desert, if available. Drink a demitasse of coffee—if anything—and your Thanksgiving dinner will be well over. If you have followed directions you won't suffer—much.

Then get up and take a long walk. Don't sit around all the afternoon in a poorly ventilated room. That will induce indigestion even when great care has been taken with the actual process of eating.

FIRST AID TO THANKSGIVERS.

By a Physician.

When the cramp wail goes up, think first of hot water—water bags and fermentative to the abdomen at once. Hot water to drink. If enough can be taken to wash out the stomach it will be well. In fact, a repetition of this home-made lavage, or stomach wash, is the best possible aid. Hot enemata also sooths the colicky sufferer. Other hot drinks often help, as hot peppermint water, ginger tea or camphor in hot water. A hot foot and leg bath, a hot full bath or a hot blanket pack until perspiration appears will hurry the elimination of the poisons. Cool cloths must be wrung out frequently and wrapped about the head and placed over the heart (left chest) during the hot general applications.

If the pains continue very long after the full armament of the household is turned loose, the family doctor better be invited. The possibility of appendicitis or gastritis or some other Latin visitor after a "dietetic spree" must never be forgotten. Anyone is justified in trying a few home remedies for immediate (and often permanent) relief, but delay is dangerous in some aggravated cases.

Relatives of Rich Woman Tell Him She is in a Sanitarium.

KEEP PLACE SECRET

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—Thomas S. Downey, a Fairmount Park guard, has started a systematic search of all the private sanitariums in this vicinity in a quest for the wealthy woman to whom he has been twice married, never lived with and who is believed had been spirited away by her relatives.

"It was about March 12, 1911," said Downey, "that Mrs. Joeephine Wolf came to the park alone. She sought me out and told me her husband had died on March 12. She said:

"'Tom, I need a bodyguard, and you have been good to me. Suppose we go and get married.'

"You see, I had known Mrs. Wolf when she had visited the park with her husband. I accepted the proposal and we got a marriage license. Mrs. Wolf gave the name of 'Josephine Gigon,' which was her maiden name, but we were married just the same.

"Following the ceremony I walked home with her, and when we got to the house she suggested that I had better not come in, as the neighbors might talk. So I went home, and every day I would call and take her for a walk.

"One day, several weeks after the first ceremony, she came to my house and said we would have to be remarried, as the first marriage wasn't legal, because she had given her maiden name instead of that of her dead husband. I told her there wasn't any need of a second ceremony, as we didn't live together anyway, and it didn't make any difference. To please her I agreed to the second ceremony."

The relatives of Mrs. Downey acknowledge that she is in a sanitarium, but decline to tell where the sanitarium is situated. They also acknowledge that she is in comfortable circumstances, having $58,000 in cash in one local bank.

"I don't want my wife's money," Downey says. "I have worked for years and am good for many years more, but I don't propose to let people make a fool of me."

AGED WOMAN'S FIRST TRIP.

Youngest Son, 89, accompanies Mother on Passenger Train.

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 28.—Mrs. H. Keith 113 years old, and her youngest son, 89 years old, have taken their first ride on a passenger train. Their home is several miles from a railroad in southern Arkansas.

Charles MsAnemy was the first patrolman in uniform they ever saw.

"Are you a policeman?" asked Mrs. Keith. "Well, we want you to show us how to get up town. This is the first time my son and I have ever been in Joplin. We came up to see the sights and are going back home tomorrow morning.

"My, isn't this a big town?" exclaimed Mrs. Keith, as she got her first glimpse of Joplin's thoroughfares.

Mrs. Keith needed no assistance as she walked. She appeared much younger than she is, and walked with a quick step and with shoulders erect. The son, too, was active.

Mrs. Keith says she has another son three years older than the one that accompanied here here. The eldest is 95, she said. All live with their mother or near her. Her husband was killed in the civil war.

Fat Turkeys Today for 1912 Pilgrim Fathers? Nix! Nix!

Pilgrims of 1912—Patsy Hayes (in center,) Anton Sladovitch (on right) and a pilgrim mother with child.

(By Harry Burton.)

New York, Nov. 28.—Another Mayflower—a Mayflower of 1912, bigger and more marvelous than our Pilgrim Fathers ever dreamed of—has just steamed up, not to Plymouth Rock, but to Ellis Island, where come the Pilgrim Fathers of today. And these third-class passengers of the Mauretania have arrived just in time to celebrate Thanksgiving.

How will they do it?

Will they "rest and feast and be merry," as their predecessors long ago prescribed for them?

Well, there is Patsy Hayes, late of County Cork. Patsy is a big, fine, rawboned Irish youth of 28, typical Pilgrim Father of 1912.

"Then," said THE PILGRIM FATHERS, "let us have a great Thanksgiving party to celebrate the plenty of this land. And let it always be observed in future years in honor of a country where no men are slaves; where there is always enough and more for everyone to eat and where no one wants and where no one has to work beyond his strength. And on this day let no one go to his toil ever, but let him rest and feast and be merry because he has prospered so wonderfully through all the year."

"Thus spoke the first of the pioneers to settle on New England some three hundred years ago, and thus was born the first of our own American national holidays—Thanksgiving.

In the great detention "pen" at Ellis Island I found him with several hundred other immigrants. As he hove near, the strong smell of antiseptics seared the air—for Uncle Sam sprays all the twentieth century Pilgrims.

Patsy was waiting at Ellis Island for his "girl." She was coming from Hartford, where she had been working in the knitting mills all those years since she and Patsy parted "back in old Ireland."

"And we were going to get married Thanksgiving day," Patsy told me, ruefully, "but now it's likely that we cannot. P'raps we'll be having it put off till Christmas."

"And why is that, Patsy?"

"Work—that's all," said Patsy. "Just work!

"You see," he said, "a friend of mine got me a job before I came here. I'm to be a motorman on the subway, and I'm to work on all holidays the first year—all except Christmas.

"It seems awfully funny to me. In Ireland they tell us that all they do in America on Thanksgiving day is to eat turkey and have a good time. And now one of the guards here at the Island says to me, says he:

"'Aw, pal, it's all bluff. Why, turkey costs so much now that only millionaires can eat it. And besides,' says he, 'what would be the use of turkey, anyway? You wouldn't be home to eat it, most likely. It's getting so that these holidays ain't for the poo rfolks any more. One day's just like another to us.'

"Now, that seems queer to me, seeing you Americans made up this Thanksgiving day yourselves. The girl—she'll feel awful."

While Patsy is driving his rumbling train through the subway, Anton Sladovitch, too, will be "celebrating" his first Thanksgiving in "the land of the free."

Today Anton is standing before the fierce white-heat of a steel mill furnace just outside Pittsburg. With a great iron shovel he is hurling wetted coal on the flames before him—flames that singe his hair and seem to burn the sight from his watering eyes. And there he will stand—doubling and doubling himself until the whistles screech at six tonight.

At noon he eats his Thankigiving dinner. He eats it from a big tin pail. From that pail he will get—turkey?

No! He will get three "chuck-beef" sandwiches made with thick brown bread, dry and unbuttered. Also two apples and a piece of baker's mince pie.

And tonight when he goes home to his little room in "the Polish quarter," he will fall on his hard little bed, exhausted. Soon, however, he will get accustomed to it, and when he comes home too tired at night, he will go to the saloon and drink until he forgets his weariness. And then, some morning—perhaps next Thanksgiving—he may figure in a cutting affray.

But not this Thanksgiving. For Anton is still a clean country boy—altogether too weary, and not drunk.

RARE RELICS PHOTOGRAPHED.

Pictures of Indian Art Work Sent to Museums.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 28.—Photographs of two sculptured heads, fashioned from stone, are on their way to museums and scientific authorities in many parts of the world on a mission of rare historical interest to the west. Edward S. Curtis, the famous western photographer of Indian faces, believes the stone heads were made by Indians to represnt the first two white men who penetrated to the Columbia river, long before the days of Lewis and Clarke. The heads were found buried deep below the surface of the earth at the ranch of Samuel Hill, neary Maryhill, Wash.

Mr. Curtis, who has spent ten years among the Indians, investigated the strange find and has ascertained, at least to his own satisfaction, that superstition caused the red men to fashion the heads as likenesses of the first white men they ever saw. Tradition has it that two Spaniards, more than a century ago, survived a shipwwreck during an exploring expedition up the Columbia river and were adopted by Indians, who believed them to be supernatural beings because of their strange accomplishments and appearance. The features of the heads are distinctly Caucasian.

HAIR CAME OUT BY HANDFULS

Terrible Itching. Began with Rash. Dandruff Literally Covered Scalp. Entirely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment Within One Month.

3002 Cass St., St. Louis, Mo.—"For five years I suffered with itching of my body and scalp. My trouble began with a rash on my lower limbs which was very annoying and my scalp was literally covered with dandruff. My hair used to come out by the handfuls and the itching of my body and scalp was terrible. I had used almost all the skin remedies on the market with no results, when I wrote for a little Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it gave me instant relief. Within one month's use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was entirely cured. I cannot discover one strand of my hair coming out and I have not lost a minute of sleep since using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which entirely cured me of itching of my body and scalp in its worst form. I also find the Cuticura Soap a benefit in shaving." (Signed) Charles Judlin, Dec. 8, 1911.

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands; itching, burning palms, shapeless nails and painful finger-ends, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. Soak hands, on retiring, in hot water and Cuticura Soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment, and wear old, loose gloves during the night. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

LONGER HIS WIFE MORE SHE'S TO GET

Unusual Ante-Nuptial Contract Has Been Placed on Record

BY A ST. LOUIS PAIR

tS. Louis, Nov. 28.—An unusual ante-nuptial agreement between Louis Yahlem and Ray Eckert was placed on file in the recorder's office.

The first clause in the agreement is that Yahlem will pay his bride $100 in cash at the time of the marriage. Without conditions of any kind he agrees to bequeath to his bride in his last will $500. In case they live together as husband and wife for two years he will will to her $1,000, including the $500 in the previous clause.

If they live together three years or longer he will bequeath to her one-sixth of his estate, including the $1,000.

It is further agreed that the wife shall have no right or claim, dower or otherwise, to share or participation in Yahlem's estate except as set out in the agreement.

Yahlem waives all right to the estate of his bride, and it is agreed that either may sell or encumber property without the other's signature.

No reason is assigned for this strange agreement which provides a sliding scale according to how long the wife decides to remain as the wife of Yahlem, nor is it stated at what date this strange agreement will really go into effect by the marriage of the contractors.

Money Back If It Doesn't

Don't say "I've read all that before"—just go to your dealer right away, lay down 50c say "I want a bottle of that PARISIAN SAGE that so many sensible people are using." Then take it home and use it as directed and then if you are not satisfied that it is just as advertised take back the empty bottle and your money will be refunded.

"Pretty risky offer" you'll say; not at all, dealers know just what PARISIAN SAGE will do and have the promise of the American makers, the Giroux Mfg. Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., that they will back him up in his strong guarantee. Pretty fair and square offer isn't it?

Mrs. J. G. Franklin, Fulton, Mo., writes. "PARISIAN SAGE eradicates dandruff, cleans the scalp, and makes the hair fluffy and beautiful; also is a good hair grower. I shall continue to use it as long as it gives such perfect satisfaction."

Ask for PARISIAN SAGE Hair Tonic and firmly refuse substitutes. The girl with the auburn hair is on every package and your druggist will tell you that Parisian Sage is a splendid hair dressing free from poisonous lead or other dangerous ingredients. Meyer Bros Co. guarantee it.—Adv.

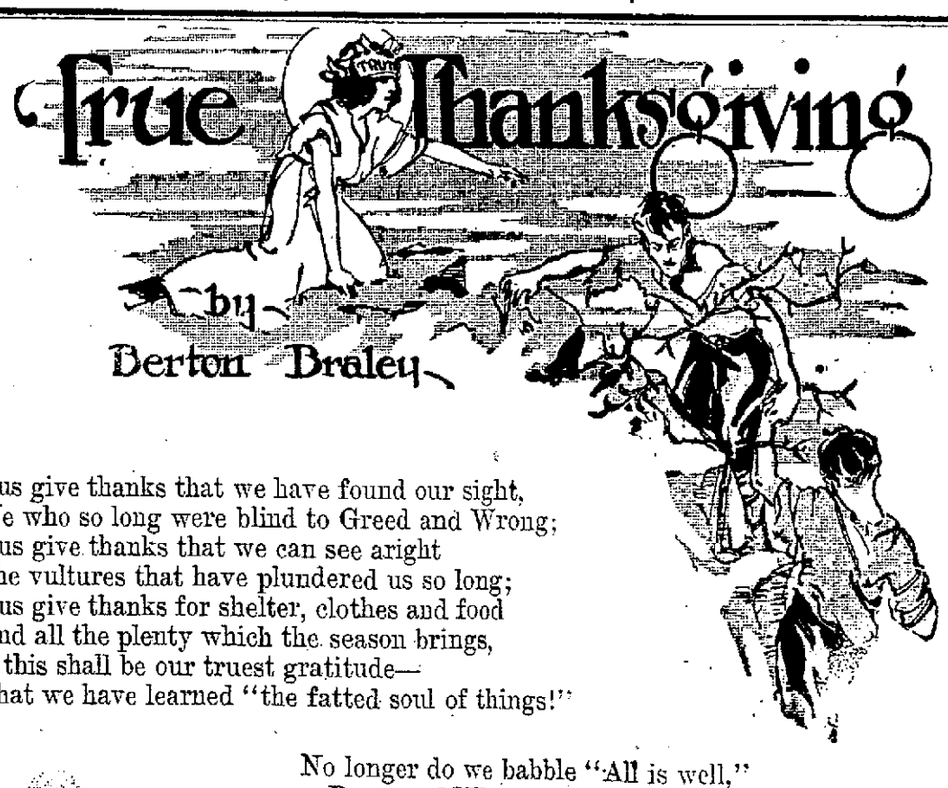
NAVY WASHDAY MADE EASIER.

Popular Jersey to Be Superseded by Blue Flannel Shirt.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The jersey long a popular part of the outfit of enlisted men, has come under the ban of the United States navy and will be tabooed after next July, when it will be superseded by the blue flannel shirt, hitherto prescribed only for chief petty officers, bandsemn and officers' stewards and cooks. Owing to its thickness it was found difficult to wash the jersey and dry it, whereas the laundering of the flannel shirt is comparatively easy.

True Thanksgiving

by Berton Braley



Let us give thanks that we have found our sight,
We who so long were blind to Greed and Wrong;
Let us give thanks that we can see aright
The vultures that have plundered us so long;
Let us give thanks for shelter, clothes and food
And all the plenty which the season brings,
But this shall be our truest gratitude—
That we have learned "the fatted soul of things!"

No longer do we babble "All is well,"
Because OUR stomachs suffer not for meat,
No longer do we linger in the spell
Of those who murmur honied lies and sweet;
Let us give thanks that Age and eager Youth
Alike are burning with the inward fire.
The flame that urges Mankind on to Truth
And brings us nearer to our hearts' desire!

Let us give thanks that we have learned to feel
The woe and pain of those less fortunate,
That we think less of gold and stone and steel
And more of Men who battle with their Fate.
Let us give thanks for this new spirit sent
To rouse us from the sloth of all our past,
Let us give thanks for righteous Discontent
Which drives us on to better things at last!

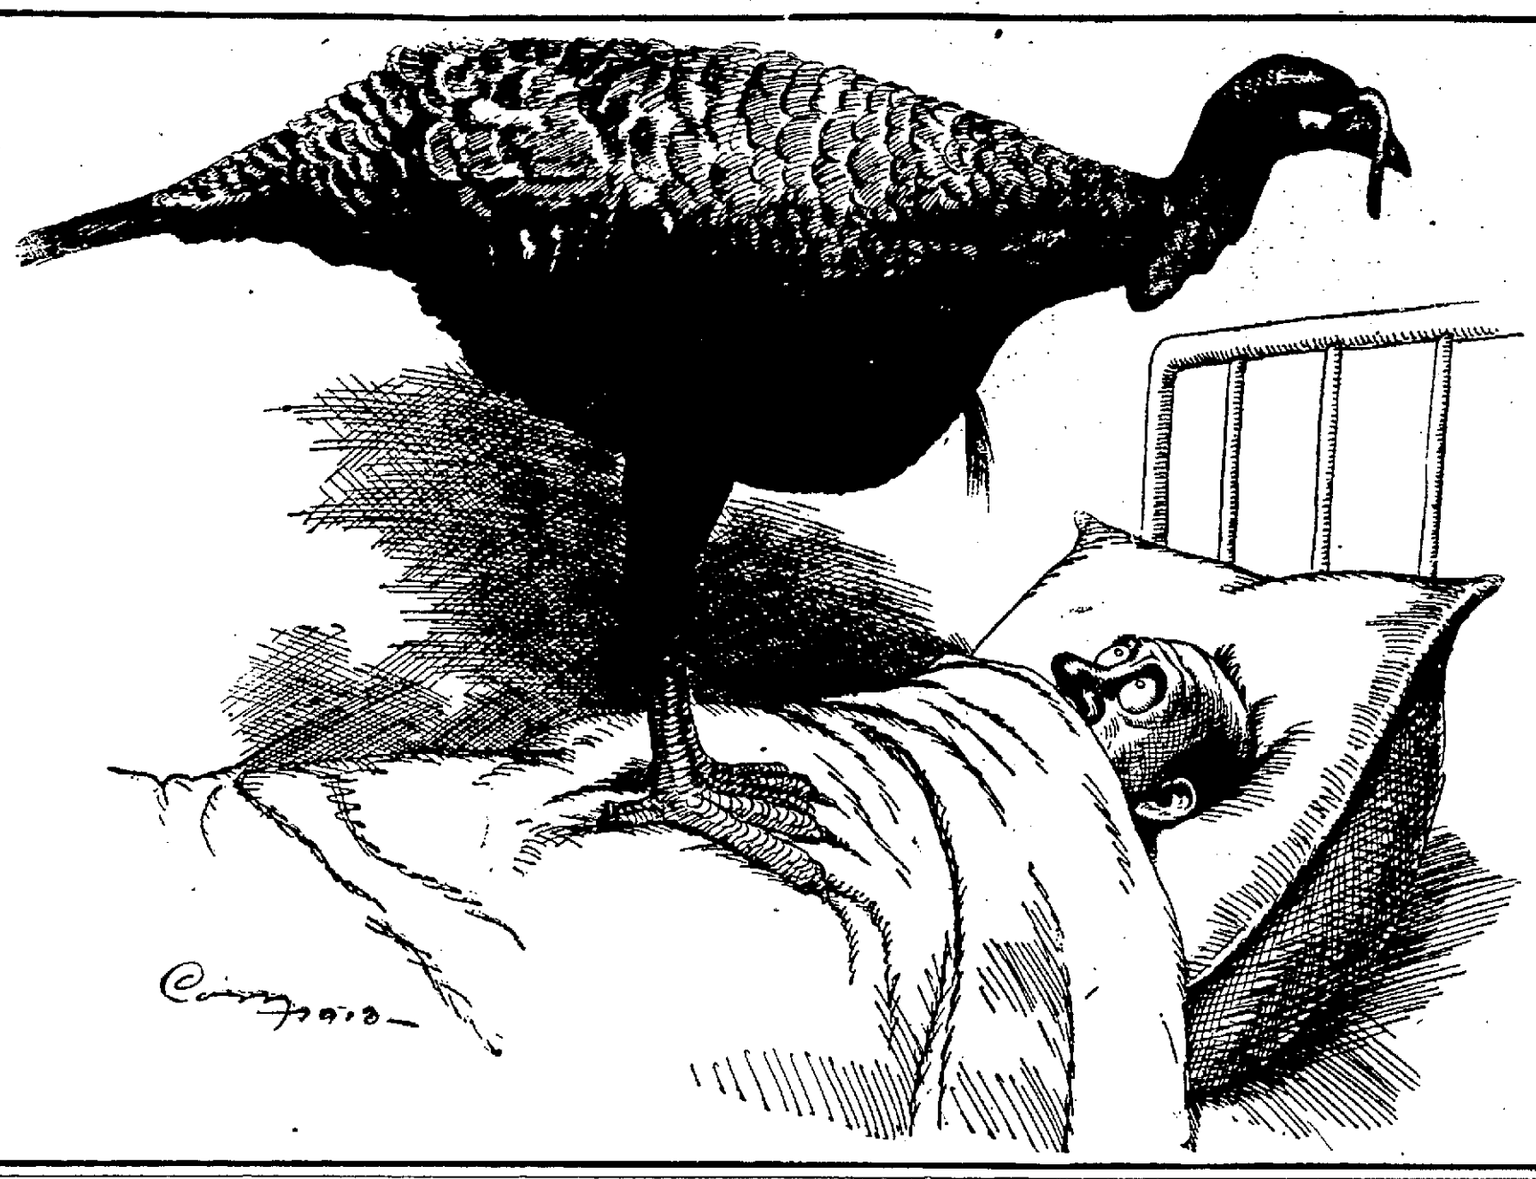
THE GOBBLER'LL GET YOU, IF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT-



INDIAN IS WORTH A LARGE FORTUNE

Red-Skinned Croesus Worth $6,000,000 Started With $200.

IS RICHEST IN WORLD

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 28.—The richest American Indian in the world has been discovered. He is Lon C. Hill, 53 years old, a "full blood" Choctaw, and his claim to being the Rockefeller of redmen is based upon his possessions, valued at $6,000,000.

Hill lives in Harlingen, Texas. In fact, he owns the town, but it is only a little mite in the midst of his vast estate, which extends to Brownsville, twenty-five miles away. He has eleven motor cars to make the run from his residence in Harlingen to his business offices in Brownsville.

This Indian Croesus is a living testimonial that members of his race need not be wards of Uncle Sam unless they sa choose. He started his empire on a capital of $200, and has never received anything from the government. Like so many of his "white brother" captains of industry, he is a self-made man in every sense of the word Not only is he a shrewd busines man, but a clever lawyer as well, practicing his profession in addition to overseeing his big ranch.

Hill was one of the chief factors in blazing the trail for civilization through the Rio Grande valley, but of his early experiences he refuses to talk, contenting himself with shrugging his broad shoulders, about which his long black hair falls in a most picturesque manner. "It's all past now," he will say, "and what's the use of talking about it?"

There is one thing, however, about which he will never hesitate to talk, and that is the price of sugar. As a sugar grower and refiner that is of much more interest to him than the fact that he has risen so far above the members of his race, and even above the great majority of the "conquering white men."

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

CITY OF FORT WAYNE, INDIANA.

Journal of the Proceedings of the Common Council.

The common council of the city of Fort Wayne met in the council chamber Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, A. D., 1912, in regular session. President Louis S. C. Schroeder in the chair, and William T. Jeffries, Clerk, at the desk, present the following members, 13, viz:

Bauer, Braun, Dittoe, Felger, Haller, Hamilton, Kinder, Pfleger, Rogge, Sarver, Schrdoeder, Strodel, Welch.

Absent, 2, viz: Councilman Van Swearingen and Wagner.

The minutes of the last regular session having been delivered to the council, were, on motion, approved as published.

Communication from the mayor.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 18, 1912.

Hon. Common Council:

Gentlemen—I desire to inform you that I have approved General Ordinance No. 582, passed at your last regular session of Nov. 12, 1912: An ordinance empowering and authorizing the chief of the fire department of the city of Fort Wayne to inspect buildings and other structures; to order the correction of the conditions therein which he may find to tend toward endangering property and life by fire; to appoint deputy inspectors to make such inspection and punishing disobedience of such orders.

I am approving Resolution No. 87 for the purchase of a flag for the City Hall building. We now have one and did at the time of Vice-President Sherman's death. The only reason it was not flying at half mast before 2:00 o'clock p. m. on the day of his death was that the cable broke while it was being raised earlier in the day. However, it will do no harm to have a new one.

Respectfully yours,
JESSE GRICE,
Mayor.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT.

To the Common Council, City of Fort Wayne:

Gentlemen:—We, your Committee on Electric Light Plant, to whom was referred the petition of a number of local merchants asking that general ordinance No. 538 be so amended as to exclude electric signs from its provisions during the remaining period of usefulness of those signs now in service, beg to advise that your committee met with a delegation representing the petitioners, the building inspector and Councilman Felger, who introduced the original ordinance. As a result of this conference Mr. Felger desires to present a new ordinance complying in the main with the requests of your petitioners.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. ..

An ordinance protecting the public health, defining the duties of the City Health Officer and Chief of Police; directing the abatement of nuisances and prescribing penalties.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Fort Wayne, State of Indiana, That is shall be unlawful and that it shall be a nuisance, for any person, persons, company or corporation to erect, construct, cause, permit, keep or maintain within the limits of said city, anything whatsoever which is injurious to health, or indecent or offensive to the senses, or an obstruction to the free use of property, and any person or persons maintaining any nuisance as above set forth is declared to be the author and maintainor of a nuisance.

Sec. 2. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, company or corporation to throw or deposit, or suffer to be thrown or deposited, or suffer or permit any child, servant, member of the family, or any other person under his, her or their control, to throw or deposit any manure, rubbish, slops, putrid, or unsound animal or vegetable matter, or any filthy, noisome or unwholesome liquid or slops, or any liquid or slops, or substances that are liable to become unwholesome, in or into or upon any street, lane, alley, sidewalk, gutter, crossing, lot, cellar, premises or common, and it shall also be unlawful for any rank weeds to be allowed to grow on any ground within the corporation of the city. And it shall be unlawful and it shall be a nuisance for any overflowing vault or non-fly proof privy to exist.

Sec. 3. All kitchens shall be provided with garbage receptacles and said receptacles shall be made of galvanized iron, shall be tightly covered and emptied frequently to prevent fermentation and bad odors; and garbage receptacles and vaults shall be emptied, cleaned and disinfected, and weeds shall be cut and hauled away at any time upon the written order of the health officer; said officer to fix a reasonable time limit of not more than five days in his order, when said garbage receptacles or vaults shall be emptied, cleaned and disinfected and when weeds shall be cut and hauled away; and if any owner or lessee being duly ordered as herein provided, shall fail or refuse to obey said order, it shall be the duty of the street commissioner, upon written notice from the health officer, to cause the garbage receptacles or vaults to be cleaned, emptied and disinfected, or the weeds to be cut and hauled away, and said commissioner shall keep an accurate account of the expenses thereof, which shall be paid from the city tretasury upon the sworn voucher of the commissioner, and said expenses shall be a lien on the property and collected by law and turned into the city treasury. And it shall be unlawful to fill up old privy vaults or sinks without first emptying the same.

Sec. 4. The secretary of the City Board of Health, who is also city health officer, all deputy health officers and the city police, shall have full power and authority to enter into or upon any street, lot, alley, premises or ground, for the purpose of making a sanitary survey of the same, and if a nuisance of any insanitary conditions are found, it shall be the duty of the city health officer, when informed of the existence of the same, to immediately notify the person or persons so offending, in writing, fixing a time limit to abate the nuisance. If such person shall fail or refuse to abate the nuisance, within the time specified, it shall be the duty of the street commissioner, upon notice of the health officer, to cause the same to be abated, keeping an accurate account of the expense thereof, which shall be paid from the city treasury upon the sworn voucher of the street commissioner, and said expense shall be a lien on the property, and collected as taxes are collected, and turned into the city treasury.

Sec. 5. The City Health officer and all deputy health officers shall be diligent in enforcing this ordinance and in doing what is reasonable and necessary for the protection and preservation of the public health. They shall study the state health laws and the health rules of the State Board of Health and be active in enforcing the same. The vital statistics shall be carefully collected, duly recorded and reported to the State Board of Health for final compilation in the state health reports, by the city health officer; and he shall make a monthly report to the mayor and city council of all health work done, with such recommendations as may seem proper to him.

Sec. 6. If at any time the work of prevention of the spread of infectious or contagious diseases is more than can be reasonably expected by the city health officer, he may, with the consent of the mayor, employ one or more intelligent men to act as deputies to establish quarantine, remove patients to the special hospital and conduct disinfections. All houses wherein infectious and contagious diseases may exist or have existed, shall at the proper time be disinfected thoroughly with formaldehyde by the health officer or his deputies at the expense of the city, as the work is obviously for the benefit of the people. A complete record of all disinfections, all vaccinations and all other health work done shall be kept by the city health officer in the minute book of the city board of health.

Sec. 7. When visiting persons known to be infected with smallpox, diphtheria and scarlet fever, all physicians and health officers shall protect their clothing and hair against infection, and shall thoroughly disinfect themselves before coming in contact with the public.

Sec. 8. It shall be the duty of the city police at all times to aid the city health officer in the work of enforcing this ordinance upon demand of said health officer.

Sec. 9. Any person or persons violating any part of the provisions of this ordinance, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined for each offense, in any sum not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars, and be imprisoned for ten days, at the option of the court, and each day's violation shall constitute a separate offense.

Sec. 10. As an emergency exists, this ordinance shall be in effect immediately on and after its passage.

J. J. BAUER.

The ordinance was read the first time in full and on motion the ordinance was read the second time by its title and referred to the Committee on Rules, Regulations and Ordinances.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CITY ATTORNEY.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 25, 1912.

City Attorney.

Gentlemen:—In reply to the motion introduced by Mr. E. A. Wagner, member of your body, asking for information as to whose duty it was to remove obstructions from the sidewalks, I desire to submit the following:

Obstructions on the sidewalks are violations of certain city ordinances and statutes, and the enforcing of these ordinances and statutes is the duty of the police department.

Yours respectfully,
H. G. HOGAN,
City Attorney.

Received and spread on record.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

To the Common Council:—

To the Common Council:—

Gentlemen:—I am hereby transmitting to you a communication from Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health. The contents of his letter and accompanying communication are self-explanatory.

Respectfully,
E. A. CRULL,
Secretary Board of Health.

Received and spread on record.

State Board of Health,
Indianapolis, Nov. 15, 1912.

Dr. E. A. Crull, City Health Officer, Fort Wayne, Indiana:—

Dear Doctor:—

Please find inclosed a copy of a City Health ordinance which was written by the attorney general after consultation with the state board of health.

The state board of health recommends all cities to pass this ordinance. It believes the said ordinance is just about right. It is short, yet it gives about all of the points which a city ordinance should give.

We think you would be doing very wisely and well to bring this ordinance to the attention of your city council and urge its passage. If it is passed will you not please let me know, that we may put Fort Wayne upon the list of those cities

DECALOG MAYOR IN M'KINLEY'S TOWN.

Socialist Mayor, Six-Foot-Five, Says Canton, Ohio, Has Got to Obey the Ten Commandments.

HARRY S. SCHILLING, MAYOR OF CANTON.

Canton, O., Nov. 25.—The citizens of Canton are now busy studying the Ten Comandments. You can hear 'em mumbling, as they walk absentmindedly along the street, "Thou shalt not—thou shalt not—thou shalt not"—just as they used to do at Sunday school.

Why? Oh, they're just brushing up on municipal law.

Canton has a new mayor, and he says he's going to enforce the Ten Commandments, whether they're good law or not. And so far, no leading citizen has threatened to take 'em to the supreme court in a test case, even though it does seem very unconventional to insist on obedience to the Decalog—in Canton.

Harry S. Schilling, the Decalog burgomaster, doesn't mind that. He's an extremely unconventional person. And he even goes so far as to declare that he's also going to enforce the state and city laws. That gets Canton's goat even more than the Ten Commandment business.

"I am still a socialist," says Schilling softly, rising to the height of his six feet five and doing a Colossus of Rhodes pose. Whereupon comes a roar from the Canton socialists, who have read him out of the party after electing him on a socialist ticket.

That election occurred a year ago, but Schilling has just taken office. It is a pretty political story.

The socialists put up Schilling and the reform people backed him against Mayor A. R. Turnbull, who had been mayoring from time immemorial, or thereabouts. The vote was declared a tie. Thereupon Turnbull and Schilling guessed on the number of grains of corn in an ear, and Turnbull, being the better guesser, was declared elected, and kept right on mayoring in the same old way, to the joy of Canton's "jungle" folk, and the chagrin of the uplifters.

Then Schilling got sore and appealed to the courts. A few days ago they decided that he was legally elected and 5,000 citizens flocked into the city council chamber and saw to it that the hostile council approved Schilling's bond and let him take the office.

The socialists dropped him because he had gone back on his word to abide by the ear-of-corn guessing contest.

The town now expects a thorough overhauling. Schilling has had the chief of police arrested on a grafting charge, and is cleaning up the department. The lid is on in the tenderloin—no segregation! The denizens of the red light district must go to work in lawful pursuits, he says, and if necessary, he himself will get work for them. Saloons are to close nights and Sundays, and gentlemen must not gamble, except in the privacy of their own homes. He has turned out most of the old administration and made nonpartisan appointments.

Mayor Schilling is a printer by trade. Until recently he had edited the Social Revolutionist, published in Canton, at a salary of $15 a week. He saved enough out of that salary to run his campaign.

Plain living and economic thinking is his rule. He eats political economy alive, and boasts of not having read one work of fiction in 20 years. No romance for him, although he's a bachelor.

THREE COUNTY ASYLUMS BAD

State Board Has Reported on Ripley, Brown and Putnam.

FIND VERMIN IN ONE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 28.—The board of charities has made public results of investigations of conditions at the poor asylums in Ripley, Brown and Putnam counties. They were found to be "bad." The report follows:

"Bad conditions have been found in some county poor asylums recently visited by inspectors of the board of state charities. Special reports have been made concerning Ripley, Brown and Putnam counties.

Ripley County Farm.

"The Ripley county poor asylum is among the worst in the state. The old frame buildings are badly worn and infested with vermin. The buildings are heated by stoves, sixteen of which were in use last winter. The arrangement is dangerous.

"Epileptic, insane and feeble-minded inmates hover over these stoves. The water supply is inadequate and there is no provision for fire protection. There are no bathing facilities. Men formerly bathed in a pond which contained stagnant water, but during the last summer they have bathed in a creek. They seldom bathe in the winter.

"An insane man who is locked up at night occupies a room in which there are no windows. Instead of placing bars on the window for safety, the sash was removed and the opening covered with boards.

"The kitchen, which is used for a dining room also, is not as clean as it should be and is poorly equipped. The cook stove is unfit for use. The superintendent, who assumed his duties last April, has worked hard to better conditions, but it is impossible for any one to make much improvement under the circumstances.

In Brown County.

"The poor asylum in Brown county is small and poorly arranged. Proper sex separation is impossible. The equipment is inadequate. The beds are rickety and infested with vermin. Not enough chairs are provided and those in use are badly worn. In an old shed in the rear of the main building an epileptic woman has been kept for two summers.

"The roof leaks and the floor is bad. There are openings to admit light, but there are no windows. Rain pours through the roof and through the openings in the side walls. The room was found in an unsanitary condition.

"Last winter the woman was locked in a cell in the basement. The walls of the cell are stone and the floor is cement. It is damp and there is no provision for heating. There is a hot air furnace in the basement, but it is not connected with the cell and it did not give satisfaction in any part of the building last winter. This unfortunate woman, who should not be locked up all the time, probably will be confined in this cell during the coming winter.

Neglect in Putnam.

"The poor asylum building in Putnam county, which is old and worn, has been neglected by the commissioners. The brick walls are cracked and bricks have fallen from the arches, over the windows and doors. Parts of the main building and some of the outbuildings are unsafe. There should be a good water system and better fire protection. The men's closet is too near the main building and is not only offensive, but very unsanitary.

"The commissioners do not visit the institution as often as they should and it is reported that all members of the board have not visited it at the same time for about three years."

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed in the local federal court by Robert E. Wharton, of Elkhart, who schedules his liabilities at $300 and declares that he has no assets. Wharton is a machinist.

MANY EXHIBITS WILL BE SHOWN

Wide Interest Shown in the Forthcoming Good Roads Meeting.

OPENS DECEMBER 11

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 28.—"That interest in the Indiana better roads convention at the German house, December 11, 12 and 13, is aroused in every part of the state is manifest by the letters that have been received during the last week by Clarence D. Boyd, chairman of the invitation and reception committee. Those in charge estimate that approximately 750 delegates have been appointed already. It is expected that many mayors all over the state will follow the lead of Mayor Durgan, of Lafayette, who called a meeting of Tippecanoe county citizens for the expressed purpose of appointing fifty delegates to attend the convention.

"The Commercial club of Fort Wayne," said Charles L. Biederwolf, secretary, in a letter to Mr. Boyd, "expects to cooperate with Indianapolis in every way it can in making the convention wonderfully successful. The following delegates have been appointed to attend the convention: George W. Beers, A. S. Bond, Henry Beadell, A. W. Grosvenor, O. O. Thwing, S. B. Fleming, W. M. Griffin, W. E. Doud, M. I. Rosenthal, G. M. Leslie, O. N. Guildlin, J. M. Landenberger, A. L. Randall, L. C. Blase, T. F. Thieme and C. L. Biederwolf."

Delegates Named.

Arthur W. O'Keefe, president of the Commercial club of Plymouth, says the list of delegates from Plymouth will be appointed within the next few days.

Mayor John W. McCarty, of Washington, has appointed the following delegates: John Dasch, Bruce Murphy, L. H. Stucky, C. B. Keller, Miles G. O'Neal, W R. Gardiner, M. J. Hayes, W. H. Meredith, Humphrey May and W. W. Barnett.

In reply to a letter sent out by Mr. Boyd, Robert Geddes, vice president and treasurer of the Havens & Geddes company, says:

"It seems to me the only thing to strive for is to have a law that is plain and easily interpreted as to its meaning, and let properly authorized supervisors as far removed from political influences as possible; let contracts for road building under a supervision that will supervise and see that we get the kind of road we pay for. If a law of this nature had been in force the last twenty years, there would be little necessity for us to complain of our roads had we received 75 or 80 per cent. value of the money that has been expended. I have no doubt everybody will agree upon this statement being conservative."

Charles W. Jordan, secretary of the Commercial club of Richmond, has notified the invitation and reception committee that the following have been appointed delegates from that organization: H. A. Dill, Thomas P. Butler, L. S. Bowman, Richard Sedgwick, E. M. Haas, Stephen Kuth, George B. Dougan and Joseph H. Mills.

M. R Sulzer, president of the Madison Commercial club, has written that delegates will be appointed from that city within the next few days. "The movement is most important," said Mr. Sulzer, "and the convention should be large and its utterances emphatic enough to compel the legislature to act. It is the subway grafters that we need to look out for in the legislature, the fellows that work underground and in the dark. Your convention ought to arouse the people of the state at the right time."

The program for the convention practically has been completed. The work of obtaining exhibits under the supervision of DeWitt V. Moore is progressing satisfactorily and this promises to be one of the most interesting features of the convention. The finishing touches to this work will be added the week before the convention when a delegation including C. A. Kenyon, Fred I. Willis, L. H. Lewis, Clarence D. Boyd and W. S. Gilbreath will go to Cincinnati to attend the annual convention of the American Road Machinery Manufactufers' association where it is hoped to obtain a large number of exhibits.

PATROLMAN IS SHOT.

Cleveland Officer Slain by Gang After a Robbery.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 28—Patrolman Leroy Bowker was shot and killed instantly last night by a gang of four men who at the point of a revolver forced the driver of a taxicab to carry them to the scene of a raid and drive them away from the scene of their crime. While one stood guard over the chauffeur the other three held up and robbed Bracken's Colonial market, securing about $100 from the cash register. One of the clerks dived into the refrigerator and found a revolver. The thieves fired at him but the clerk was unhurt. He returned their fire without hitting them, and the three ran out to the automobile. As they climbed in Patrolman Bowker ran up and they fired three times at him, killing him instantly. They then forced the chauffeur to drive them across town and when far from the scene of the crime directed him to drive away. Early in the evening they called up the taxicab company, ordering the car for "George B. Johnson."

Judge Richard K. Erwin, of this city, who has been elected as a member of the supreme court, has been engaged by the Wells County Bar association to deliver an address at a banquet to be held by the organization this evening at the Bliss hotel, at Bluffton. The feast is given in honor of Judge Henry W. Eichhorn, judge-elect of the Wells-Blackford circuit.

Mrs. Paul Wehling, 316 Smith St., Peoria, Ill., had kidney and bladder trouble, with terrible backache and pain across the hips. Just imagine her condition. She further says: I was also very nervous, had headaches and dizzy spells, and was fast getting worse when I took Foley Kidney Pills, and now all my troubles are cured. Foley Kidney Pills have done so much for me I shall always recommend them." Foley Kidney Pills are rich in curative qualities and contain no habit forming drugs. Try them. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

PREPARE FOR A HOT TIME.

Car Thieves Take Seventeen Bottles of Mustard.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 28.—Hungry thieves with a sour taste broke the seal of a Grand Trunk freight car standing on the Grand Trunk railroad, between Fourteenth avenue and Sixteenth street and stole nineteen bottles of pickles and seventeen bottles of mustard.

The thieves succeeded in getting away with their loot without leaving any trace behind and the police have been unable to locate them.

Some Brief Bits of Indiana News

Goshen, Ind., Nov. 28.—John P. Michael, 60, a wealthy farmer, was stricken with apoplexy yesterday and fell from a wagon, dying a few hours after he was found in the roadway.

Indianapolis, Nov. 28.—Henry Egelhoff, 64, a saloonkeeper, gave his life last night in an effort to save Mrs. Henrietta Hammond, whose buggy was struck by a Pennsylvania freight train. The woman was bruised badly. Egelhoff was thrown under the wheels of the cars.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 28.—An open safety pin was found in the stomach of the 10-months-old daughter of A. A. Frederick here yesterday by the aid of an X-ray photograph. The child swallowed the pin several days ago and apparently has not suffered from the mishap.

Madison, Ind., Nov. 28.—William Smith fell from his wagon and suffered probable fatal injuries yesterday when he was notified that his daughter, Mrs. Joseph W. Goller, of Cincinnati, had died. The wheels of the wagon passed over his body.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 28.—After an official recount of votes as asked by J. A. Brenna, of Gary, the defeated republican candidate for county auditor, it was found that E. Simon, of Hammond, the democratic candidate, was victor by a margin of 24 votes. Simon's first majority was 132 votes.

DR. LEHMAN
DENTIST

First-Class Dental Work at a Reasonable Price.

When teeth are so far decayed that they cannot be filled they can be restored to usefulness, beauty and durability by the porcelain crown system. Porcelain work is one of the most beautiful operations in dentistry. It is a process of crowning teeth and matching the natural teeth so closely in shape and color that the work is imperceptible. Crowns of porcelain are so useful and comfortable to the wearer that it is soon forgotten that they are different from one's own teeth. It is astonishing to see how many roots and teeth that are considered worthless can be thus made good, comfortable teeth. Porcelain work and its several improvements when rightly performed, scientific, artistic and practical—it is the true dental fine art—and covers a large number of cases.

Call or phone 2035 for appointment and have an examination made of your teeth. Find what is required to put them in first-class condition. No charge for this. My office is located at 916 Calhoun street, over App's shoe store. Sign reads: J. C. Lehman, Dentist.
